In the best regulated families, and oftentimes in families which are not regulated, it occurs, and especially in sections contiguous to the seacoast where you have a beach home. Times come when the family gets restless and insists father move to the waterfront. And father moves. About the time he is comfortably located a lot of relatives move also, which takes a lot of joy out of a beach vacation. "You ain't heard anything yet," they say. "Our relatives are not of our choice, but thank God our friends are."

And times are better, and it doesn't make any difference why, just so they are. But it does make a difference whether times keep that way, or take another nose dive and the country with it. Good business is contentment.

It is surprising to find faith in the beyond firmly entrenched in those who never thought gave any consideration to future life. From the most unexpected sources during many of our conversations, I have been astonished to get their philosophy of things beyond. It seems that it takes years and years to bring convincingly this conclusion, but there must all the time have been a dormant conviction that something eternal exists. Over the radio a few evenings ago I was impressed by the faith expressed by a friend who traced our hopes from the hills of David to the seeds of grain which bring us the harvest. If there existed no faith why plant the seed? If our expectancy to greet the morning sunrise was denied, faith would die. It is hope which carries us over the canyons of doubt. I have been enriched from unexpected sources by modern miracles as astonishing as the destruction of the walls of Jericho.

In a metropolitan paper the obituary column carries the headline: "Last Rites." Immediately following appears the announcement of a candidate for office, in all probability more of the last rites.

Oh, yes, it's news when the man bites the dog, and it is also news when a lady leaves her hat in a cafe. It wouldn't be if a man did. He, the absent minded creature, is expected to indulge in a faux pas.

First news from the front, of the bar, and from San Diego: "Wish you were here." So the vacation season is now officially opened.

Paul Plavin, bean and hay rancher in the Huntington Beach sector, is adding to his activities and will delve much deeper into the soil than farming. He has some acreage around the Five Point area and is going down, down, down. If Leland comes up with a hat full of oil it won't be enough, but it will be enough to prove the acreage.

Independence day July 4, but if you have a firecracker which won't wait that long, shoot it. The cop in my neighborhood is on vacation.

He was such a good friend that I had to protect him, but when he showed me an invitation to attend a function in the South Seas I concluded the scene was so far away complications were practically nil. But who is this Vivian, anyway.

And if this ever happens it will be news: Officials of all packing plants, exchanges or associations, taking a cut along with the growers' loss.

Invasion of Hainan Island to Bring 'Complications'

LONDON. (AP)—Britain and France have warned Japan to stay off Hainan island, off the South China coast, and will act to support each other in case "complications" arise, the government informed the house of commons today.

Richard Austen Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, made the announcement.

KEY TO INDIA-CHINA
Hainan, China territory, is separated by the 150-mile wide gulf of Tonkin from French Indo-China and commands the eastern approaches to that colony. Answering a question whether the British government would support France in regard to the security of Indo-China, Butler replied:

"His majesty's government and the French government, through their ambassadors at Tokyo, have made clear to the Japanese forces and government that they would regard any occupation of Hainan by the Japanese forces as calculated to give rise to undesirable complications.

"Should any complications unfortunately arise, his majesty's government and the French government would not doubt afford each other such support as appears warranted by the circumstances."

LANDING ATTEMPTED

Japanese warships recently were concentrated off Hainan and Chinese dispatches June 24 reported that attempts at a landing had been repulsed. Hoikow, chief port of the island, has been bombed from the air frequently and last week was shelled by Japanese warships.

Today Japanese reported their airplanes had bombed the Yuling forts on Hainan and silenced shore batteries there.

Chinese defenses on the island have been greatly strengthened and the garrison trained in defense against landing attempts.

LOYALISTS ON OFFENSIVE

HENDAYE, France. (At the Spanish Frontier) (AP)—Spanish loyalist military units not only halted the insurgent drive against Valencia today but took the offensive on all sectors of the eastern front.

The heaviest fighting was on the two flanks of the 45-mile zig-zag front reaching from the Mediterranean to Saragossa. On the eastern flank the lines lie across the highway leading from Castellon de la Plana to Valencia, while at Saragossa they cross the Teruel-Mediterranean highway.

U. S. Ambassador To Britain Sued

NEW YORK. (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, and three others were named defendants in a suit for $1,000,000 damages begun today in federal court by J. Edward Jones, head of the J. Edward Jones Petroleum corporation, who charged they "unlawfully planned and conspired" to ruin his business.

The other defendants are James M. Landis, dean of Harvard Law school, and like Kennedy a former chairman of the securities and exchange commission; and George C. Matthews and Robert E. Healy, who are attached to the SEC.

Chinese Leader In Tientsin Murdered

TIENTSIN, China. (AP)—Chao Tien-Lin, Harvard graduate and member of the British concession here, was shot to death today as he emerged from his home in the concession.

His assailants, two Chinese gunmen, were wounded in a pistol battle with a detective accompanying the victim and were arrested.

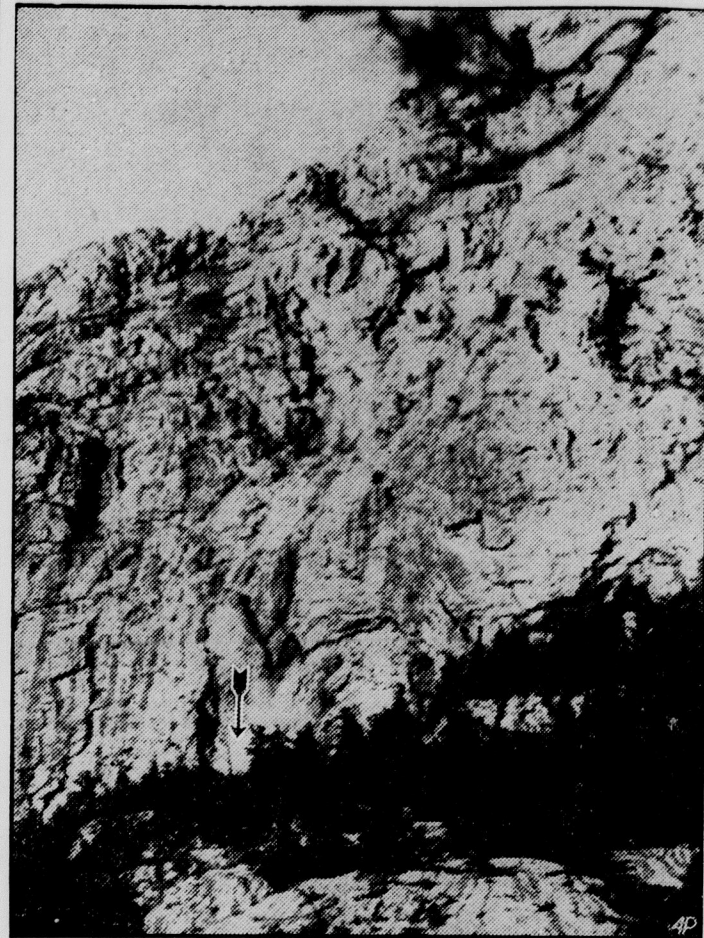

Chao, outstanding leader among Tientsin Chinese and principal of a Chinese school, was a staunch patriot.

EINSTEIN THEORY ATTACKED AS 'PURE JUNK'

OTTAWA. (AP)—The Einstein theory of relativity—that the outer region of space among the galaxies of stars is "curved"—was attacked as "pure junk" today by Dr. W. B. Cartmel, University of Montreal scientist.

After studying a report to the American association for the Advancement of Science meeting here in which Dr. Herbert E. Ives of the Bell Telephone laboratories, New York, offered new experimental confirmation of the Einstein theory, Dr. Cartmel declared that both Dr. Albert Einstein and Dr. Ives had worked from a "false

Where McCormick Is Sought

On this almost sheer cliff in the Sandia mountains east of Albuquerque, N. M., mountain climbers sought John McCormick, missing since he and his 20-year-old companion, Richard Whitmer, began an ill-fated attempt to scale the peak. Whitmer's body was found at the place indicated by the arrow.

100 HUNT NEW MEXICO PEAK IN STORM FOR M'CORMICK

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Hampered by rains which poured torrents down Sandia peak last night, more than 100 men nevertheless moved onto both sides of the cloud-wreathed heights today in resumption of a dogged search for Medill McCormick, 21, wealthy young mountain climber missing since last Wednesday.

The territory was increased to both sides of the mile-high mountain, with half the force working down the hitherto unsearched eastern side of the peak.

Added to the army of searchers this morning was deputy state game warden Homer Pickens, famed New Mexico lion hunter, who brought two-keen-nosed lion dogs to the scene.

New rains were in prospect as thunderstorms moved down from the northwest. Storms late yesterday and last night washed out roadways, and bank-full arroyos covered the main Santa Fe highway westward under two feet of mud and silt.

Although she has been at the scene of the search continuously since last Thursday, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, Medill's mother, was again with the searching forces today.

U.C. FRESHMEN ARM SHIPS, CREW WINS

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—California's yearlings broke Washington's string of six consecutive Poughkeepsie victories today by nosing out the Huskies in the two mile freshman race opening the Intercollegiate Rowing association regatta.

Syracuse, a contender all the way up to the final hundred yards, was third, Columbia fourth and Cornell fifth and last.

California's winning time of nine minutes 30.2 seconds, was far behind the freshman record of 9:11.3 set by Cornell in 1907. Washington's time in second place was 9:31.2-5, about a quarter length back of the winner.

Bishop vs. Tinkham Suit Dismissed

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The United States court of appeals dismissed today the $500,000 libel suit of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., against Representative George H. Tinkham (R., Mass.).

Cannon had accused Tinkham of libeling him by asserting that he had violated the corrupt practices act during the 1928 presidential campaign. He lost his suit in United States district court here and appealed.

PULLMAN RATES UP

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The interstate commerce commission granted the Pullman company permission today to increase its rates 5 per cent. The company had asked a 10 per cent increase.

GOVERNOR ASKS SAFETY

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—A plea for highway safety over the three-day holiday was made today by Gov. Frank P. Merriam in a Fourth of July proclamation.

LONDON. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain's opponents in the house of commons, enraged by two more attacks on British ships in Spanish ports, sought vainly today to have him arm British merchantmen with anti-aircraft guns.

Chamberlain tried to stem a flood of hostile questions with a declaration that "a good many difficulties" stand in the way of such a move.

Asked if the government would suggest to the Spanish non-intervention committee that merchantmen be supplied with machine guns to defend themselves against low-flying attackers, Chamberlain explained that that had been considered, but added:

"I am informed that fitting of merchant vessels with anti-aircraft equipment would require structural alterations."

CIO Pickets May Face Contempt Case

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Hints of contempt proceedings against the CIO's United Fishermen's Union followed today in the wake of continued picketing of harbor canneries.

Union pickets failed to halt their activities even after being served with copies of the temporary restraining order, issued Saturday by Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt.

Police refused to interfere, saying the issue was entirely a civil matter.

DILLINGER KIN SHOT BY HIS FORMER PAL

F. D. R. GREETED ROYAL PAIR OF SWEDEN

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—President Roosevelt, standing under a rain drenched canopy, welcomed in "true friendship" today a prince and princess of Sweden.

And from them—Prince Bertil and Crown Princess Louise—the chief executive accepted with "profound gratitude" a monument raised by the Swedish people on the spot where the first of their countrymen landed in the new world.

CROWN PRINCE ILL
Speaking at the 300th anniversary celebration of the arrival of those colonists at "The Rocks" here, Mr. Roosevelt expressed "keen sorrow" that Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, father of Bertil, could not come ashore.

The crown prince, stricken with a kidney ailment, remained on the Swedish liner Kungsholm which brought the royal party across the Atlantic for Swedish-American festivities which extend into July.

Rain, falling steadily through the night and morning, brought a dreary note to the historic scene at the junction of the Christina and Delaware rivers. Flags and bunting sagged.

Although Mr. Roosevelt's brief speech was addressed to "your royal highnesses," he paid a tribute to the kings who were represented, too, in the 1633 colonization of Delaware.

"Finland, small in size but mighty in honor, occupies an especially warm place in the American heart," he said to Finnish Foreign Minister Rudolf Holsti, without referring directly to that country's lone practice, among all European debtor nations, of paying its installments to this country regularly and on time.

SWEDEN PRAISED
Accepting the monument, the president said he was confident "it will typify the close association and continued good will between our two nations."

"To this spot came the pioneers. But in the succeeding centuries tens of thousands of others have come to our shores and added their strength and their fine qualities of citizenship to the American nation."

Americans remember also "with grateful hearts," the chief executive declared, that Sweden was the first neutral European nation to negotiate "a treaty of amity and trade with our young and struggling nation."

President Vetoes Retirement Pay

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt has vetoed a bill restoring retirement pay to part of the 47,000 World War emergency officers removed from these benefits by the economy act.

The measure would have continued retirement pay for emergency officers of the army, navy and marine corps who served between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918, and incurred "permanent disabilities of 30 per cent or more in line of duty."

Grazing Bill Is Signed by F. D. R.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The white house announced today President Roosevelt had signed a bill by Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) extending from five to ten years the period in which state grazing permits will remain operative.

F. D. R. Will Not Take Hand in State

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Rep. John F. Dockweiler, Democratic candidate for governor, said today he had conferred with President Roosevelt and that the chief executive told him he would not take any stand in the California gubernatorial contest.

University of Montreal scientist said.

"This is just the opposite from the theory of Dr. Einstein, which holds that space is non-euclidean at infinity and is, therefore, curved," Dr. Cartmel added.

The reason that Dr. Einstein and Dr. Ives arrived at false conclusions is that they used the old mathematical equations of Maxwell, which are wrong, when they should have used those of Heaviside," famous English physicist, who was one of the discoverers of radio reflecting layers in the atmosphere.

Al Capone's Mind Broken By 'Hell Nights' on Rocky Prison, Says Roy Gardner

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Hell-nights broke the mind of Al Capone on Alcatraz island, but his enemies within the grey-stone walls of "the rock" would do anything to prevent his release, a former inmate said today.

Roy Gardner, white thatched former train robber, recalled life in the federal penitentiary in San Francisco bay as he started anew as salesman for a California motion picture distributor.

Hell-nights, he explained, were the tortured hours that prisoners spend in their cells, imagining things going on "outside."

The grim official discipline made no exception for Capone, Gardner said.

"Capone has plenty of enemies. He is undoubtedly the most hated and most hated man in Alcatraz prison," Gardner said.

"Men who were his enemies in Chicago are there and their feud has widened. Any of them would do anything to see that Capone did not get out."

"A fellow like Capone just sits there, staring at the black cell wall. He gets to thinking of the grand times he used to have. How he ordered politicians around.

"At first he falls asleep easily, but the longer he is in captivity, the longer he stays awake. If Capone does come out, he will be a worthless man, for his mind is gone."

"It was after one of Capone's 'hell-nights' that I had trouble with him.

"As we lined up for breakfast, I stood next to him.

"I said, 'What's the matter, Al, can't you take it?'

"He didn't reply. He peered at me through his bloodshot eyes and let a haymaker at my chin. The blow brushed my cheek as I dodged and we started fighting. While looking for a chance to break through his defense, I saw a guard pointing his rifle at us from a guard tower, dragged Capone under the tower and we finished the fight."

PLANE FALLS IN S. F. BAY

OAKLAND. (AP)—An airplane plunged into San Francisco bay today as one wing, which apparently had torn away in the air, drifted to the beach just at the edge of the Oakland airport.

A coast guard amphibian plane immediately flew to the wreck and it appeared to watchers on the shore that at least one person was taken off.

The man rescued was identified as Mike Caserio, test pilot for the Alcor Air corporation of Oakland, owner of the plane.

E. P. Webb, another test pilot, was the other occupant.

TRAFFIC ENDS 5 MORE LIVES

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Five names were added yesterday to California's list of traffic dead.

Donald Bowman, 26, Merced, was killed when a car in which he was a passenger hit a tree on Ebbetts Pass highway.

Jack H. Sherman, 26, riding a motorcycle in Oakland, was fatally injured in a collision with an automobile.

Andrew Diaz, 49, was killed by a hit-run motorist in Los Angeles. L. W. Lean, 43, Los Angeles, died of injuries he received last Friday when struck by an automobile.

DON BUDGE KEEPS IT UP

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (AP)—Don Budge, playing in true championship form, continued his parade through the all-England tennis championships field today by defeating F. J. Cojar of Czechoslovakia, 6-3, 6-0, 7-5, in the quarter final round.

Sarah Palfrey Fabryan of Boston was carried to three sets before she eliminated Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, to enter the quarter final round.

Courtroom Slayer Formally Accused

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A formal complaint was filed today against Arthur Emil Hansen, confessed courtroom slayer of two Los Angeles lawyers, J. Irving Hancock and Robert D. McLaughlin.

Attached to the complaint was the report of an interview after the killing in which Hansen was questioned by Dr. Gustave Boehme, psychiatrist, who drew no conclusions.

DANNY DAVIS DIES

AUSTRALIA SAVES IRON
WASHINGTON. (AP)—The commerce department received word today that Australia will prohibit exports of iron ore after July 1.

CHINESE, FOES DEADLOCKED

SHANGHAI. (AP)—With Chinese and Japanese forces apparently deadlocked in the Yangtze river valley below Hankow, Japanese bombing crews today carried out widespread aerial operations over south China.

The Yulin forts on Hainan Island, just off the south China coast, were bombed and the attackers reported Chinese shore batteries there were silenced.

More than 500 miles to the northeast of Hainan the Kwangtung province city of Chauchow was bombed. The Japanese said that in this attack railway buildings on a line from Swatow to Chauchow's south, were destroyed.

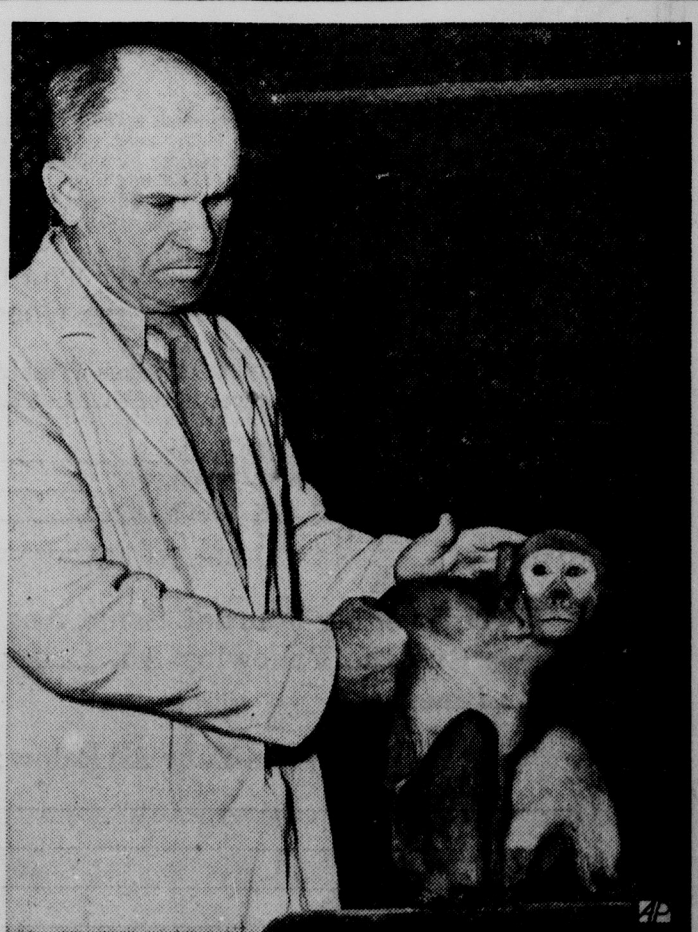

Many military observers expect that the seaport Swatow may become the point of entry for any Japanese attempt to invade south China. Japanese troops were landed last week on Namoa Island, 20 miles east of Swatow.

Another Roosevelt Grandchild Hinted

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SPECIAL TRAIN EN ROUTE TO HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP)—A person close to President Roosevelt's family confirmed today that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., is expecting a baby sometime this summer.

Young Mrs. Roosevelt, the former Ethel DuPont of Wilmington, Del., is the wife of the President's third son.

The two prospective grandfathers—Mr. Roosevelt and Eugene DuPont—were together last night and today.

Outlaws Slain Or Wounded After Terrorizing Two Mid-West States

100 OFFICERS CORNER PAIR NEAR JOLIET

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Two outlaws who terrorized parts of Indiana and Illinois with gunfire and kidnappings reached dead end in a Deselm, Ill., farm yard today, one slain and the other wounded.

Approximately 100 peace officers of the two states were in on the kill which climaxed a 20 minute flurry of sharp fighting.

Sheriff John Stack of Kane, Ill., said the wounded man identified himself as Orelle J. Easton, 25, of Valley City, N. D., and named his slain companion as his brother, Clarence Easton, 27.

Previously, Illinois State Trooper Joseph Gromann identified the slain man as Ray Leach and the wounded desperado as James Biekie, or Brekke. Sheriff Stack ordered immediate questioning of the wounded man to determine their true identity and the extent of their crimes.

Peace officers chalked up this score against them since Sunday night. The wounding of an Indiana state trooper near LaPorte; wanton firing at a newspaper photographer who escaped unscathed; the kidnapping of two LaPorte deputy sheriffs who were released eight hours later; a dawn brush with a pursuing squad of Illinois officers; the kidnapping of a Wilmington farmer and his four-year-old son, and sporadic other fights with pursuers before they met ultimate apprehension.

Illinois and Indiana authorities had been searching for the desperadoes since Sunday night. In a few hours the fugitives had critically wounded an Indiana state trooper, kidnapped two Indiana deputy sheriffs, engaged in three gunfights with Illinois officers and abducted an Illinois farmer and his small son.

Gromann said his squad sighted and pursued the fugitives' car near Deselm.

The desperadoes' car became mired in mud, Gromann said, and they abandoned it to hunt refuge in a corn field.

Gromann said he and his two companions pursued the men across the field, firing several times, and drove them into the range of another posse of officers. The second squad brought the gunmen down, Gromann said.

Gromann said that in the mired car they found James Novy, 38, and his four-year-old son, who had been abducted by the gunmen near Wilmington even as a force of some 100 officers searched for them.

L. A. Mayor Replies To Methodists

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Mayor Frank L. Shaw sent a letter today to Presiding Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the Southern California conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, saying its resolution for his recall showed the conference "was made the instrument of a vicious political maneuver."

The mayor said in his letter the recall resolution was adopted by a vote of a small minority of delegates of whom a considerable proportion were not residents of Los Angeles.

BLOOD DONATED

Seven county jail prisoners volunteered a blood transfusion last night; and blood was given the prisoner by Claude Guest, serving a term for a morals offense.

Calhoun, tall, slender, brown-haired, talked freely and calmly with the sheriff and with officers who investigated and made the arrest after being summoned by Huntington Beach police—Deputies G. F. McKelvey, Harvey Gulick, A. W. Fullerton and Andrew Rodabaugh. He repeated the story to Asst. Dist. Atty. Turner this morning.

His feud with Dillinger, he said, started when they both were serving terms in Oklahoma state prison at McAlester.

DILLINGER FIRST FREED

"He told the other prisoners," said Calhoun, "that when he got out he was going to go for my mother and wife and sister."

Dillinger, he said, was released first, and stole nine slot-machines Calhoun had cached before his capture.

Then Dillinger located Calhoun's 47-year-old mother, the prisoner said, married her, and forced her to scrub floors in Los Angeles offices, taking all her earnings and abusing her. He also boasted, Calhoun said, of having had relations with 23-year-old, red-haired Bonnie Pelfrey Calhoun, the prisoner's wife.

PARTS FROM WIFE

For the past year, said Calhoun, his stepfather and mother had lived in Long Beach and Los Angeles under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Rance Morgan.

"He took every dollar she earned," Calhoun said. "He abused her. He used to prow around parking lots and steal things out of cars. Once he stole five $20 bills from an old man he lived with. . . . I was so humiliated by his boasts about my wife that she and I separated."

"Three weeks ago I came to California. I found my sister in Colton, and through her I met Earl Waffie, who lives in Midway City."

SISTER IN HOSPITAL

Waffie, Calhoun said, offered him shelter while Calhoun looked for work, provided he would work for his board and room.

Yesterday, the prisoner continued, he went to Los Angeles to see his mother. They and Dillinger came to the county hospital here to see Calhoun's sister, who had been ill there for seven months.

"While we were there," continued Calhoun, "he insulted her and my other relatives. When we left we went to Midway City. The Waffies were away."

"I kept thinking about the things he had done to me and my family. . . . I saw a 30-30 rifle in the closet. . . . I saw Dillinger out in the yard playing with the dog."

"I picked up the gun and shot through the window screen in the bathroom. . . . then I went outside and shot again. . . . then I called the cops."

ONE BULLET IN BODY

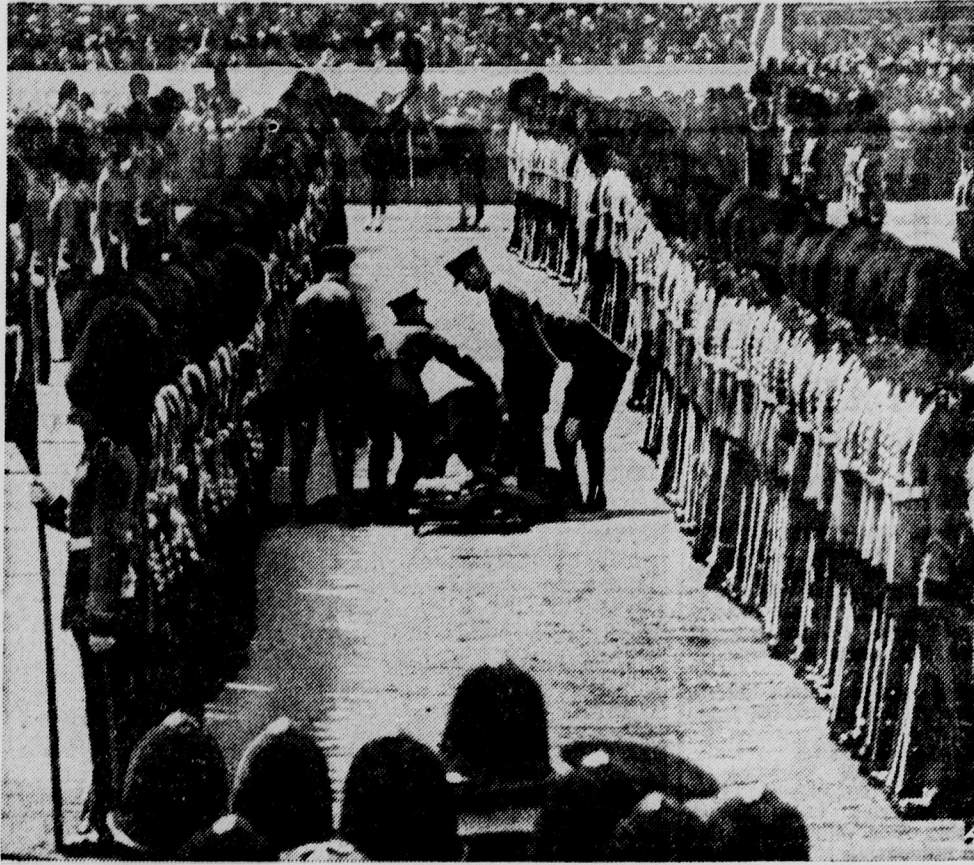

Sheriff's officers said they knew of no witnesses to the first shot, but said Mrs. Cora Dillinger, the prisoner's mother, saw her son fire the second shot at her husband.

But one bullet was found in Dillinger's body when Dr. Russell I. Johnson of Westminster and Dr. W. P. Baker of Santa Ana performed an emergency operation last night, but officers said there was a bullet hole in the screen, and Mrs. Dillinger said she saw and heard the second shot fired.

Calhoun said he was serving a burglary sentence when he met Dillinger in the penitentiary, and admitted also serving time in the Arkansas state prison. Dillinger, he said, served part of a 10-year term in Missouri and also had been in the Oklahoma penitentiary before.

Cause of Inability To Read, Claim

NEW YORK. (American Wire) One of the main causes of juvenile delinquency is failure to master reading in the lower school grades, in the opinion of Dr. Robert E. Bell, well known authority on juvenile delinquency.

"Inability to read becomes a stumbling block for future progress, which causes the children to seek solace in day-dreaming and other undesirable substitutions," he declared in an interview.

Organized G.O.P. Support Of Conservative Democrats Fades

REPUBLICANS TO FIGHT FOR OWN NOMINEES

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Organized Republican support of conservative Democrats in this year's elections appeared today to be fading from the realm of political possibilities.

Although keeping the way open for anti-administration Democrats to line up with them, Republican leaders apparently have decided to fight their battles in all states behind their own party candidates.

A month ago coalition tendencies were evident in at least three states—Missouri, Utah and Indiana. Reports circulated in Republican circles here that conservative Democrats seeking election to the senate from these states could be supported aggressively by members of the party normally in opposition.

But two powerful Republican groups have changed the situation. These are the county officeholders, whose political careers began and end in the "grass roots," and the party's national leadership as represented by Chairman John Hamilton.

The "grass roots" reaction against coalition developed first in Missouri. Some of the state Republican leaders there have been inclined to back Senator Bennett Champ Clark, frequent critic of Roosevelt policies, who has strong support for Democratic renomination in August.

Since that time, however, former Governor Henry S. Caulfield and others have entered the race for the Republican nomination. Demands from the "grass roots" for party uniformity and an active campaign, in the opinion of Republican leaders here, mean that such Republican support as Clark may get will come from individuals and not from the party organization.

A similar situation, they say, exists in Indiana where Senator Frederick Van Nuys hopes for some Republican backing. Van Nuys lost the support of the Democratic organization in his state after opposing the Roosevelt court bill last year.

When he became certain that he could not win Democratic renomination, he announced he would seek re-election as an independent.

Talk of a coalition movement in Utah was inspired by the candidacy for renomination of Senator Elbert D. Thomas, a consistent administration supporter. Republican leaders considered choosing a conservative Democrat to oppose Thomas.

This proposal was hampered, however, by a law that a candidate must swear he supported a majority of the party's nominees in the last previous election before he can get his name on a primary ballot.

Great Britain is considering her debt payment to the United States. Probably about the same time most of the rest of us are considering our debt payments. Indefinite.

I think I must have been the unconscious golf player who made a hole in one. I've been in a hole so long that I think it must have been me.

Most people are beginning to believe that the LaFollette party was a dud instead of a bolt.

This evening you will find me at the First Christian church. The young folks are going to give a penny carnival. I know my size. There's another reason. Kisses are to be sold by a beautiful girl for a penny apiece, but nothing is said about their redeemability. I'm suspicious that you can buy the kisses for a penny but that collection will be difficult.

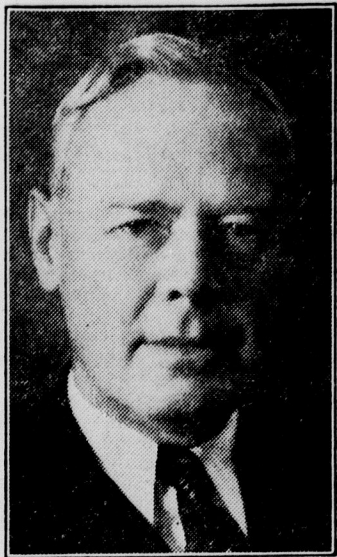

PARKER DAM IN USE TUESDAY

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Parker dam, nearly complete, will begin to store water tomorrow to give 392-mile Colorado river aqueduct which will supply the 13 Southern California cities of the Metropolitan Water district.

F. E. Weymouth, district general manager, said today that workmen were ready to begin plugging the diversion tunnels which have carried the river around the dam during its construction.

Parker dam, 155 miles downstream from Boulder dam, the world's highest, is known as the "deepest" dam in the world because it was necessary to excavate 237 feet below the river bed to reach bedrock.

Retires

W. L. (Jack) Frost, Southern California Edison company vice-president and widely known here since he served as Santa Ana district manager, retires July 1 after 38 years' continuous service with the Edison company.

Like Fred Lewis, Edison general manager who was born and raised in Anaheim, Frost was one of the executives of the Edison company points to as the man who started at rock-bottom with the corporation.

Frost joined the company as a groundman in Pasadena in 1900 and later was employed briefly as a bookkeeper in Los Angeles, after which he came to Santa Ana as district manager. He later served as district manager in Redondo Beach and Redlands, purchasing agent in Los Angeles, and in 1920 was appointed head of the customers' department.

The former Santa Ana has left New York and will spend the first summer of his permanent vacation touring Europe, Rodney Bacon, present district manager here, said today.

NEW YORK, (AP)—The American Legion was denounced as "fascist" and "unpatriotic" today in a 280-page survey of the veterans' organization published by teachers' college of Columbia university.

The monograph, prepared by Prof. William Gellermann of Northwestern university, was leaked as approximately 15,000 educators gathered for the annual convention of the National Educational association.

Gellermann assailed the role played by the legion in the educational, economic and political life of the nation and called on school officials to cease "pandering" to the legion.

Columbia university awarded the Northwestern faculty member a doctor of philosophy degree on the basis of his study and published the monograph as one of its "contributions to education" series.

"The American Legion is not an expression of democratic but rather an expression of entrenched business and military interests which attempt to hide their true purposes under democratic guise," the survey said.

Gellermann, a legionnaire, of Kent, Wash., post 15, said the organization was dominated by a small group of reactionary leaders, too powerful to be unseated.

"It is encouraging to observe that the average ex-serviceman is not now and never has been a member of the American Legion," he continued.

"Through the use of stereotypes acceptable to the American middle class mind, it seeks to prevent democratic change."

"Its intolerance and persecution of those who advocate change, in the name of those very rights which the American Legion itself substantially destroys, is fascism in fact, and should be opposed with all the vigor at the disposal of American educators."

"In the promotion of war and fascism, the American Legion has done more than its share."

Women screamed for help when a car whizzed past Santa Clara street and Bonnie Brae drive late last night, a neighbor told police. Investigation failed to produce either the car or the screaming women.

Loren Smith, 12, 1501 West Ninth street, was nipped by a neighbor's dog living at Tenth and Pacific streets yesterday. Police notified Poundmaster Harold Pickering.

Mack Charez, 916 Logan street, reported Philip Cruz and Kress Cruz, 1026 Lincoln street, threatened to pull a gun on him during a beerhall argument on Logan street; police investigation indicated the gun threat apparently was just a bluff.

Firecrackers cracked illegally at 1625 West Second street, 1101 North Ross street and in the 1500 block on West Fourth street over the week-end, police were notified.

Two 10-year-olds were caught throwing oranges at passing cars on West Fifth street; warned, they showed proper repentance.

JACK FROST TO RETIRE AFTER LONG SERVICE

Last chapter of a real-life "Horatio Alger" story, part of whose setting was laid in Santa Ana, was started today with announcement that W. L. (Jack) Frost, vice president of the Southern California Edison company, will retire July 1 after 38 years of continuous service in the West's electrical industry.

"Jack" Frost is widely known in Santa Ana as the ambitious youngster who rode a bicycle in the days just after the turn of the century when he was district manager of what then was the tiny Santa Ana district of the Edison company.

Like Fred Lewis, Edison general manager who was born and raised in Anaheim, Frost was one of the executives of the Edison company points to as the man who started at rock-bottom with the corporation.

Frost joined the company as a groundman in Pasadena in 1900 and later was employed briefly as a bookkeeper in Los Angeles, after which he came to Santa Ana as district manager. HARWOOD WINS POST IN STATE POSTAL ASS'N

Postmaster Frank Harwood was named third vice president of the California Postmasters association during the annual convention at Santa Cruz which closed during the week-end.

The Orange County association of postal officials received the blue ribbon membership badge for having 100 per cent participation in the State and National Postmasters association rolls.

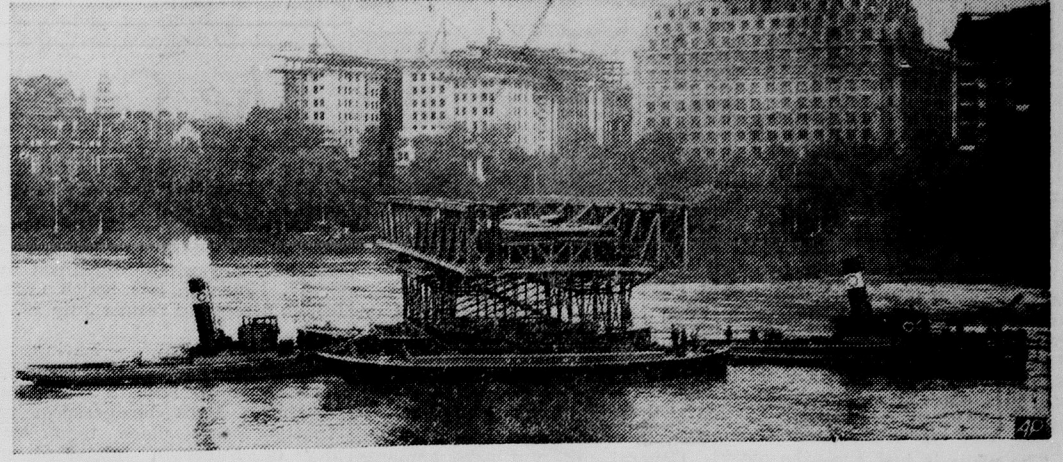

Orange county postmasters taking part on the various convention committees and their offices were as follows: Frank Harwood, chairman of the constitution and by-laws committee; Clair Head of Garden Grove, time and place committee for arranging the convention next year at Santa Monica; Sam Long of Santa Ana, nominating committee; Bertha Hilbert of La Habra, live postmasters' committee; and L. H. Hoskins, resolutions committee.

Persons attending the convention from this area were as follows: Postmaster and Mrs. Frank Harwood of Santa Ana; Postmaster and Mrs. Sam Long of La Habra; Postmaster and Mrs. W. H. Adams of Newport Beach; Postmaster and Mrs. J. Ed Huston of Huntington Beach; Postmaster and Mrs. Clair Head of Garden Grove; Postmaster Myrtle Knouse of Westminster; Postmaster and Mrs. L. H. Hoskins of Anaheim, together with their daughter, Nettie Mae and Mrs. Galloway, mother of Mrs. Hoskins and Mr. Hoskins' mother; Postmaster and Mrs. R. S. Gregory and daughter and daughter-in-law of Fullerton; Postmaster Bertha Hilbert of La Habra; Postmaster Olye Beard of Yorba Linda and Postmaster Ada Purpus of Laguna Beach.

The Orange County Postmasters' association was acclaimed at the convention as the only county group in the state which has had a 100 per cent membership in both the State and National postal associations for the past year. For this, the county organization received a blue membership ribbon.

Prominent speakers at the five-day session included: Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, Congressman John J. McGrath, J. A. Smoot, postmaster of Salt Lake and W. L. Slattery, post office controller of Washington, D. C.

LAGUNAN HEIR TO ESTATE

Joseph R. Jahrus, prominent Laguna Beach businessman, was named sole heir to the $2640 estate of his uncle, the late Joseph Beadle, it was revealed today in a will filed for probate in superior court.

Mr. Beadle, who died June 15, left the property to Jahrus, the will said, with the provision the nephew might give it to charity if he wanted to.

The estate consists of $2140 in cash and $500 in stocks, Jahrus' petition said. Other heirs not mentioned in the will include a brother, sister, two other nephews and a niece, Pauline Smith of Laguna Beach.

Letters of administration in the $8000 estate of Mrs. Sophie Matter, who died June 23, were asked today in a superior court petition by H. J. Matter of Ventura, a son.

Mrs. Matter owned a 10-acre walnut grove, which will be distributed among her five children. Only Orange county heir is Ida A. Matter of route 1, Fullerton.

Mosaic Master

Seven thousand separate pieces of wood went into construction of an unique, attractive magazine rack tucked away in E. L. (Dad) Eustis' tire shop at 115 East Second street, but the rack is as sturdy a piece of cabinet-work as you'll find.

The piece is just one—the most elaborate—of more than 100 articles of furniture Dad Eustis has built since he thought up a brand new craft to while away idle depression hours four years ago. Each of the pieces has required from 3500 to 7000 pieces of wood.

His new craft (how practical and profitable it is remains to be seen): Overlaid wooden mosaic—in natural colors. No doubt you've stared at mosaics on walls or in pavement in front of a downtown store; but chances are you never played cards on a mosaic picture. That's what you could do on one of Eustis' novel tables.

With the aid of a hacksaw and a small electric sandpapering machine, Eustis (sixtyish and an ex-carpenter) cuts out pieces of black walnut, holly, maple, mahogany, orange, a dozen other hard and semi-hard woods and pieces them in perfect geometric designs on the surface and sides of card tables, magazine racks, desks, chairs, coffee tables, tiny "hope chests" and other furniture.

Accurately cut to specific angles, from 1 1/2 up to 180 degrees, the tiny pieces (an eighth of an inch thick), all are smoothly fitted together, glued to the surface; a coat of filler and a coat of varnish completes the process, makes a colorful finish of piano-polish smoothness.

The various woods Eustis uses gives a nice array of color—from snow-white holly to darkest black walnut and mahogany. Majority of the material is bought as scraps from local cabinet works, though the original tire gets some of his better pieces of Philippine mahogany from discarded cigar boxes.

Eustis spends an average of 10 days on each piece, takes as long to figure his design as he does with the actual craft-work—but he never puts his design on paper. Usual procedure: He makes the framework, then draws diagonal lines to get the exact center of his surface. Next step is to figure the general theme of his pattern, after which he begins cutting pieces and gluing his border. Next he spots his highlight design (usually made up of the tiniest pieces of wood) so they're geometrically attractive, and finally he fills in the rest of his pattern with slightly larger pieces.

An ex-carpenter rather than a cabinet-maker, Eustis still is trying to perfect his finishing process to give more of a gloss to the mosaic overlay, though even now his unique furniture doesn't take a back seat on appearance.

Majority of his furniture pieces contain pieces of wood that are currently at hand. One card table, for instance, has two shades of birch, orange, black walnut, three shades of mahogany. General pattern occasionally is duplicated, but always with different colored wood so it looks entirely different.

Eustis has found a glue that sticks through thick and thin, too. One of his tables, for instance, went through the Anaheim flood unscathed, while a radio resting on the table lost its veneer.

A Santa Ana tire dealer eight years, but a resident of Tustin since 1922, Eustis took up his unique art to while away his time. "The tire shop didn't keep me busy during the depression, and I got tired of working crossword puzzles," cracks the grizzled older.

First few pieces of furniture went into Eustis' own home, a few have been sold, many have been given away, some are still on hand. Eustis keeps on making them, though, about one every 10 days, except something compli-

Huntington Beach Prepares for Lively July 4 Celebration

3-DAY PROGRAM COMPLETED BY COMMITTEE

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Orange county eyes all focused on Huntington Beach today as this city went into its last week of preparation for its annual gala Fourth of July celebration, scheduled to open Saturday afternoon.

General program arrangements all were completed over the weekend, Chamber of Commerce Secretary William Gallienne revealed today, and the city is preparing for an anticipated crowd of more than 50,000 visitors from all parts of Southern California.

The program unofficially opens early Saturday morning when the chamber of commerce launches its unique midnight "grunion derby." Officially, however, the celebration gets under way at 3 o'clock that afternoon with the arrival of the U. S. S. Milwaukee, navy cruiser, commanded by E. H. Kelly, with 458 enlisted men and 33 officers aboard.

The rest of the program: SATURDAY
7 p. m.—Public reception and banquet honoring ship officers at Golden Bear cafe. Speakers: Mayor M. C. McCallen, Dr. L. F. Whitaker, chamber of commerce president, and Ted Tarbox, celebration chairman.

8:30 p. m.—NYA band concert, directed by Ted Collins, at Main street grandstand.
9 p. m.—Queen's court arrives at grandstand, followed by coronation of Queen Phyllis Plavan, with Commander Kelly and Mayor McCallen officiating.

9:30 p. m.—Grand march and coronation ball in the new beach pavilion.
SUNDAY
1-5 p. m.—Public visiting hours on the U. S. S. Milwaukee.
1 p. m.—Kayak races, directed by Commodore R. A. Marsden of Fullerton, west of the municipal pier; Captain Harry Sheue, chairman.

2:30 p. m.—Bathing girls' contest and parade; music by the municipal band, directed by John Peterson; D. W. (Boxie) Huston in charge.
4 p. m.—Medals presented to kayak race winners.
4:15 p. m.—Band concert.
8:30 p. m.—Collegiate dance in the new pavilion.

MONDAY
10:30 p. m.—Free sucker scramble for children; W. J. Bristol chairman.
10:15 a. m.—Swim around the pier, free-for-all, with medals for the winners; Lifeguard Captain Bud Higgins in charge.
10:30 p. m.—Parade forms at Sixth and Main streets; parade bomb salute and daylight fireworks precedes start of parade; line of march: South on main street to Ocean boulevard, west to Eighth street, north to Palm street, then east to Main street.

12 noon—Old-time basket-lunch picnic at Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Talbert's home, 518 Ocean avenue.
1-5 p. m.—Visiting hours on U. S. S. Milwaukee.
1 p. m.—Band concert.
1:15 p. m.—Japanese native fencing, jujitsu and costume dancing.
2 p. m.—Horse show and games at baseball park; baby and pet parade revue at the grandstand.

3 p. m.—How's-Your-Memory contest, directed by Prof. L. K. Ridenour.
4:30 p. m.—Pie-eating contest.
4:45 p. m.—Pop corn-eating contest.
5 p. m.—Races for boys and girls.
7:30 p. m.—Band concert.
9 p. m.—Grand aerial display of fireworks from municipal pier.
9:30 p. m.—Final dance in pavilion.

Matinee dances will be held in the pavilion at 2:30 p. m. every day during the celebration, and the Carnival of Venice and Fun Zone will be open throughout the fête at Fifth street.

The British army has borrowed a "super" cook from the London County Council for a year in a campaign to brighten up meals for the troops.

The Core...No More

ORANGE.—Jacob Rush, 88, one of two Civil war veterans in Orange, leaves for Gettysburg, Pa., to attend the annual Gettysburg reunion for veterans of both north and south; Rush accompanied by C. W. Hollister, 343 South Cambridge street; to return July 12.

BUENA PARK.—Paving of Stanton avenue from Lincoln to Manchester to feature discussion of Buena Park businessmen at Knott's Berry place tomorrow; city of Fullerton interested in project as means of providing direct route to beach area; idea is to eliminate congestion on Grand avenue during heavy beach traffic.

BREA.—Growth of Brea school band's reputation depends on growth of members' legs, Director Leland Auer thinks; organized last summer, band gains laurels, gets invitations to join parades; youngsters too small to lug big horns on long parade, Auer declares in turning down invitations.

NEWPORT BEACH.—Kayak Carnival, postponed by high wind a week ago, rescheduled for July 10, Chamber of Commerce Harry Welch announces; carnival under direction of R. A. Marsden of Fullerton at Fifteenth street landing; medals for winners provided.

FULLERTON.—Sixty women, headed by Mrs. Fred Withers, canvass homes today to raise funds for four Girl Scout troops; money to be used for construction of "little house" that's more spacious than present quarters; goal is $1000.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Garden club plans one-day pilgrimage to Huntington library July 21.

NEWPORT BEACH.—Ten gold cups, 10 more medals go to winners of third annual Flight of the Snowbirds July 17, with over 100 tiny sailboats scheduled to compete.

BUENA PARK.—Summer recreation program, directed by Paul Jungkeit, under way at Grand avenue school; assistants: Mrs. Rose Bureta, Walter Cullen, Mrs. Helen Nelson.

BREA.—Hay truck catches fire; many autos beat fire department to scene; Chief W. H. Williams hands out tickets to 10 most obvious offenders; next day siren blew again, and fire truck was unhampered by siren-chasers.

ORANGE.—First Christian church offers congregation plans for remodeling church and parsonage; reviews accomplishments of past 50 years at annual Achievement day service; Rev. Myron C. Cole says improvements to cost $1200.

NEWPORT BEACH.—Buddy Rogers, film, music star to appear at Rendezvous ballroom in Balboa as feature of July 3 celebration.

NEWPORT BEACH.—Four Ebell club members attend southern district of Federation of Women's clubs at Hotel del Mar. Mrs. R. P. Tillotson, Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. C. M. Deakins, Mrs. King Joslyn.

LONG BEACH.—Two hundred members, guests of reality board plan annual frolic at Irvine park July 29; losing teams in membership drive to be hosts.

LAGUNA BEACH.—Community Players to give "demand performance" of "Sidelwalks of New York," old-time tear-jerker, July 9-10; Haring Griggs in leading role as Gideon Bloodgood.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Mrs. Stillman Gates elected president of Ladies' Aid at meeting in Harry S. Barnes home.

LA HABRA.—Adelene Stemple, Francis Leuhm of La Habra married at Methodist church ceremony.

Shower Given For G. G. Bride-Elect

GARDEN GROVE.—The approaching wedding of Miss Dorothy M. Allen, daughter of the M. B. Allen, and Thomas LaVelle Terry of Alhambra Friday evening, inspired another shower for the bride-to-be Friday evening when Miss Marie Grammar and Miss Agnes Nelson entertained at the T. B. Grammar home in North Placentia.

Playing of a bridal game resulted in prizes for Mrs. C. A. Sawtelle and Miss Gertrude Allen. Trays on which refreshments were served each carried nut cup favors decorated with wedding bells. Guests included Miss Allen, her mother, Mrs. M. B. Newlyweds Will Live In New York

Charming simplicity characterized the rites last Saturday afternoon which made Miss Marie McGinnis the bride of Paul Herman Cate of Burbank and New York. The picturesque little bridal church of the First Methodist Episcopal church was setting for the ceremony, performed by the Rev. Dr. Calvin Emerson Holman, and for the occasion it was banked with white gladioli and daisies and lighted by dozens of white tapers.

A form-fitting white lace gown, with fingertip veil of white maline, was worn by the pretty bride, who carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, gardenias, pink roses and blue delphinium. She was given in marriage by her brother, Ray McGinnis.

Her sole attendant was Miss Alberta Green, wearing a delicate pink lace gown with tiny cap of the same fabric. Lee Pratt of San Diego served as best man, and ushers were Charles Warner and Ernest Brockett.

The bride chose to have just soft piano music before the rites, and Miss Imogene McCauley played the lovely Debussy "Clair de Lune" and Guy D'Hardelot's "I Know a Lovely Garden."

Mrs. Mary McGinnis, mother of the new Mrs. Cate, was hostess to the wedding party and relatives at a reception following the ceremony in her home at 1220 South Van Ness street. Wearing a smart frock of navy lace with clusters of lilies of the valley.

Miss West entered on the arm of her father, who, like the ushers, was dressed in white. Her gown was of the heaviest of white satin, starting plain, with its molded, but buttoned all down the back, and flaring out into a wide stand-out skirt that extended into a long train. Sleeves were long and tight with a slight puff at the shoulder, and on her head she wore a halo of maline accented by tiny seed pearls from which fell a short three-tiered veil. She carried with this an exquisite handkerchief fashioned of duchess and rosepoint lace, an heirloom of Mrs. L. G. Swales. She carried no flowers, but a dainty white prayerbook belonging to Miss Barbara Davis, and on this rested a lovely old turquoise cross belonging to Mrs. Robert North.

Her maid of honor was Miss Bettie Timmons, wearing a picture frock of fuchsia net, with her hair piled high on her head in quiet style, and carrying a sheath of white gladioli that matched the single blossom worn on the head.

The bride in her pure white, with her maid of honor, and then her seven bridesmaids in identical frocks of multi-colored net, all made with huge puffed sleeves, square necks, and tremendously full wired skirts, made a striking picture, particularly since each attendant carried a sheaf of scarlet gladioli, with a single flame bud in the hair.

Miss Evelyn Witt was in pale pink, Miss Eleanor Cogan in delicate blue, Miss Virginia Curry in mauve, Miss Kate Lillard in dainty peach, Miss Betty Bradley in aquamarine, Miss Harriet Fowler in canary yellow, and Mrs. John Barlow in chateau. Their taffeta sashes matched their frocks.

The groom was attended by Fred Erdaus as best man, while ushers were Victor Langford of Pasadena, George McLaughlin of Alhambra, Oakes Newcomb, Blas Mercurio, Russell Roquet, Edward Hall, and Loren Wagner.

Particularly lovely music was heard preceding the rites, with Edward Burns, brother-in-law of the groom and a noted musician, playing the cello and Miss Margaret Rust acting as vocal soloist. Mrs. Harry Warner officiated at the organ.

Following the ceremony members of the wedding party and guests, numbering approximately half a hundred persons, were entertained at a wedding supper in the garden of the West home. Others attending the wedding had been greeted at the church door by the bride and groom and Mr. and Mrs. West, the latter in a smart afternoon frock of pink lace with blue shoes, pink gloves, and a broad-brimmed blue hat with roses under the brim.

Mr. and Mrs. Pinkston are now honeymooning at Lake Arrowhead, and will return to Santa Ana in a fortnight. The groom is employed by the city, and is a graduate of Santa Ana junior college where he was a prominent football star. The bride also is a junior college graduate, where she was affiliated with Las Gitanas, Alpha Rho Tau, and Beta Gamma, among other activities.

Auxiliary members of the carpenters' union spent Friday in Costa Mesa at the lovely new home of Mrs. Lawrence Wright on Fullerton street. Each of the ladies took a covered dish and a potluck was enjoyed at noon after the brand new house and rear patio with outside grill had been inspected.

Chatting and sewing were the forms of entertainment for the afternoon, with the Mesdames Fern Benner, Dana Lonon, Amy Billingsley, Mary Lambert, Elvina Kitchell, Agnes Schroth, Ollie Miner, and Agnes Buckwater. The next social meeting of the auxiliary will be a joint installation ceremony July 5 at the Labor Temple with new union and auxiliary officers taking their oaths of office.

Cox-Breeding Rites To Be Thursday

Plans of Miss Dolly Cox to wed Calvin Breeding on June 30 were revealed to a group of friends invited to a delightful party given in honor of the bride-elect last Friday evening by Mrs. John L. Upson and Mrs. Earl E. Wilson in the home of the latter.

The betrothal has been tacitly understood, but not until the party, which was in the nature of a crystal shower, did the bride's friends learn that her wedding will occur this coming Thursday. Both young people are prominent in social activities, and the groom is a member of one of the pioneer families of the county.

Miss Cox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cox.

Mrs. Upson and Mrs. Wilson had arranged dainty decorations in white and green, suggesting the bridal motif, with a bowl of lovely magnolias centering a large table spread with a white cloth of Italian drawwork, and with wedding bells and a beautiful wedding cake adding a still prettier touch.

After an evening of cards they presented dainty prizes wrapped in white and silver to Mrs. J. Milan Kennedy and Miss Rose Edwards. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Kenneth Gorton.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

By MOLLY HARVEY

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of weekly book reviews of current publications which will appear each Monday in The Journal.

"WHAT PEOPLE SAID" by W. L. WHITE

Small town psychology, state and county politics, and the vague line between smart business and crime are the matters dealt with in this splendid novel. Though the state of Oklahoma cannot be found on the map, and Athens is a name chosen at random, the town and its people are thoroughly American, and the opinions presented in "What People Said" are typical of a cross section of American philosophy.

Though the author says in his foreword that the characters do not represent actual persons, it is asking too much of the reader's credulity not to believe that Charles Aldington Carrough, sage of Athens, and editor and owner of its most progressive newspaper, is not based on the figure of William Allen White, or that Junior Carrough is not W. L. White himself.

In his position as assistant editor of the "Athens Sun" Junior becomes a sort of clearing house for local gossip, knew what they were saying along the soda counter at Dave Hughes' drug store, across the merchants' round table at Tiffin's tea room, over at the country club on Saturday night, out in the farm land, and up in the state capital. When gossip began to center on Lee Norsex and his fabulous rise in finance via politics, the Carroughs kept the stories out of the "Sun," for the Norsexes were their best friends, who stood with them for the right progressive things in Athens. But when the Norsexes' father and son, became the center of a scandal which shook town and state wide open, Junior, active manager of the paper during his father's absence, realized that a newspaper owed a duty to its readers, and that personal friendship had to be overlooked in getting at the truth.

There are many angles from which this story could have been written which would have been more dramatic and heightened the suspense of the final climax. If anything it is underwritten. The author has chosen an objective method of analyzing society and describing those factors which form the pattern of an individual in these days when there are no frontiers for a man sky-rocketed by ambitions beyond his control.

Present to sign the guest book were Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Busch of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart McNair of Santa Anita Oaks; Mr. and Mrs. Will McCormac, Robert McCormac, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wallace, all of Huntington Park; Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Burse of Norwalk; Miss Betty Ray and Wallace Binford of Riverside; Miss Marguerite Peers of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bradley and daughter Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Seacord of Los Angeles; Mr. G. Johnston and son Victor of Silverado; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benson and children Thelma and Don of Alhambra; Dr. D. S. Binford and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rhodes of Huntington Park; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Anderson of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Fleming Peck, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Howton and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wallace, all of South Gate; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Seacord of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Binford of Riverside; and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bradley and daughter Elaine Louise of this city.

First and second prizes were presented at the close of the afternoon to Mrs. E. Lee Smith and Mrs. Winder. Guests of Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Cunningham were Mrs. Quincey Hardy, Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Mrs. Kenneth Price, Mrs. Paul Howe, Mrs. Burt Zaiser, Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. Gail Jordan, Mrs. Clarence Ranney, Mrs. John Newman, Mrs. Don Harwood, Mrs. E. Lee Smith, Mrs. Fred Johnston, Mrs. Byron Williams of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Richard Pollock of Los Angeles, with Mrs. Winder.

Present in addition to Mrs. Archie Robinson, the hostess, were the Mesdames Guy Christian, Charles Archer, W. W. Tantiing, Frank Gilbert, Robert A. Korff, William Hazen, T. J. Sawyer, Earl Casey, L. R. Stearns, J. D. Campbell, Orlo Householder, Marshall Burke, Frank Greenwood, George Vesh, Gilbert Martien, Ira Marchant, Harvey Bennett, L. A. Riehl, W. S. Leinberger, and Lucius Conkey; Miss Clara Macomber, J. W. Means, principal, and Ira L. Marchant and Clarence Bowman.

Accompanying their parents to West Newport Island for a day of fun on the beach and in the water, was a group of young people, including Anna May Archer, Rebecca Archer, Barbara Gilbert, Anna Marie Groty, Evelyn Bennett, Virginia Riehl, Mary Louise Leinberger, Arline Phelps, Wesley Fisher, Donald Marchant, and Bill Robinson.

These letters, scrawled pen sketches of the innermost thoughts and desires of humans, reveal more than anything I know that one-half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives.

Since "Ellen's" confession of an overwhelming loneliness more than a score of letters are at hand from other humans who recognized her sorrow and can match it with their own. Just a few of them follow:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I'm writing my experience of loneliness. As for myself, I have grown almost homeless as I have struggled hard for a home, but all in vain. I lost my wife, not through death, but the divorce court because I stayed home too much.

Then, again, during these depression times there has been so little work and hard going, it would be selfish for me to even think of offering a woman a humble home. But one thing I can do is what I am doing now is to send a word of consolation to Ellen which in turn might bring a little cheer and relieve her from that obsession when she knows there are others drifting in similar boats on that great sea of life. Thanks. SHIPWRECKED E.

He Too Is Lonely
Dear Miss Stoddard: I read a letter in your column which I think it timely. The question of loneliness is not confined alone to women. I can sympathize with the writer of said letter who signed herself "Ellen" and I can sympathize with the fullest extent.

You see, I like her, know what loneliness means. If one but could find women like this lady, there would be more sunshine in this old world—one who wishes to have a home in every sense of the word. This lady airs my views exactly and more power to her. Here's hoping she finds her heart's desire.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY PARTY GIVEN

A lovely reception honoring the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wallace of South Gate, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of their granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bradley at 925 Cypress street in this city.

The garden of the home made a lovely setting for the reception, with Mrs. Wallace wearing a pale green print dress, with white accessories, and a corsage of white carnations, while Mr. Wallace wore a carnation boutonniere. Congratulations and gifts were showered on the happy couple. Among the gifts which arrived from distant relatives was a gold and crystal vase from Mrs. Wallace's sisters in St. Louis, and a gold plate from relatives in Texas.

The gift of the family to the couple was two comfortable swing rockers upholstered in imported gold tapestry. Movies were taken in the afternoon by Mr. Bradley in which a picture of the four generations of relatives present was featured.

Mrs. E. R. Binford of Riverside, mother of Mrs. Bradley, was in charge of the refreshments and carried them out with a gold and white color scheme, serving at small tables set up in the garden. She was assisted by Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. M. E. Seacord, her two daughters who reside in Santa Ana.

Present to sign the guest book were Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Busch of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart McNair of Santa Anita Oaks; Mr. and Mrs. Will McCormac, Robert McCormac, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. By MINA SHAFFER

Surely you believe in fairies. Never, never, think you are too old to believe, for it will deprive you of so much—the songs they sing in the night time—their laughter as they skip along a running stream in the wood—the hush that comes at dawn when they whisper to you—"Sweet dreams."

THE NIGHT IS HUSHED

When moon and stars hang low,
This perfect starlit night
Belongs to Lady June.
Tread softly lest you break the spell.

Suspended is all sound,
As if with ecstasy she paused
In contemplation of the night
Of her lovely self.

CAME THE LITTLE FOLK

Night has carved a cyclone moon,
Crickets bow a merry tune.

Nodding is each sleepy flower,
Jasmine scented is the hour.

In the stillness of the night,
Twinkling on a beam of light.

Fairies dance the rigadown,
On this lovely night in June.

Hold your breath and you can tell,
Which are steps of Tinker Bell.

If you're kindred, so can you,
Trace their footprints in the dew.

A STAR HAS FALLEN

Be still. Don't move,
And come not near—
A star has fallen
Bright and clear
Into the waters
Of the lake—
A willow switch
I now shall take
And underneath it
Gently pry:
"I'll help it back
Into the sky."

"WOMAN'S WORLD"

A CHILD IN SPRING

I am weary of my toys:
Those that squeak and make a noise
Or run briskly round and round
When a shiny spring is wound.

All the elephants and seals
Gravely running upon wheels,
All the dolls with wooden faces,
Dressed in taffetas and laces,
Checkers, marbles, rubber ball,
They are of no use at all.

Fill the box and close the lid,
Let them sleep as they are bid.
I am going with the sun
To dance upon the grass and run
Joyous races with the breeze,
And when evening comes, I'll tease

A fairy smiling in a flower,
To tell me stories by the hour.

Bostonians Feted At Dinner Party

The lovely colonial home of Mrs. E. G. Summers and her daughter, Mona Summers Smith, at 2301 North Flower street, was scene of a delightful dinner party Saturday evening when Mrs. Smith entertained to compliment Dr. and Mrs. Guy Lane of Boston, house-guests of Dr. and Mrs. John Ball.

The graceful period-style dining table was decorated in purest white, with a bowl of giant white phlox and white tapers centering it. Another table on the adjacent terrace, was more colorful with petunias and phlox in blue and white.

Mrs. Summers and Miss Beth Emerson, the hostess' niece, assisted Mrs. Smith in serving. Later at contract, high score prizes at each table were won by Mrs. John Ball, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Herbert Miller, Mrs. Richard Emerson, Hugh J. Lowe, and Herbert Miller. The guest list included Dr. and Mrs. Guy Lane, Dr. and Mrs. John Ball, Dr. and Mrs. Dexter Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hermon, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bemis, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coffing, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Stevens, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forgy.

IS HELD AT

JEFFREY RANCH

Mr. and Mrs. George Jeffrey and Mr. and Mrs. William (Dooley) Jeffrey joined together yesterday to entertain at the barbecue party that has become an annual summer tradition at the hospitable ranch home of the former couple.

Guests gathered in the late afternoon for badminton and ping pong, a game ended by strolls through the beautiful gardens, with dancing later to the music of a Mexican orchestra.

RAPID STRIDES ARE ACHIEVED IN CONTEST

Anyone of several dozen runners-up in The Journal Courtesy and Efficiency contest can easily land in first place position with the assistance of their friends.

Off-hand the contest editor is thinking of the following persons in this category: Helen Lee Goldsmith, of the Southern California Telephone company, whose standing is 73,450; Ida Mae Jones, clerk and cashier at Sontag drugstore, who has a rating of 72,950 votes; Evelyn Bishop, waitress, Hotel Rossmore cafe, 64,800; Hugh Davis, TeWinkle Hardware salesman at Costa Mesa, 57,700; Marie Foltz, Reliable Sheet Metal works in Orange, 57,450; Russell Gunden, Alpha Beta Market, 49,350; Frank Cagle, assistant janitor, 44,700; Harriet Jones, saleslady at the Famous Department store, 44,000, and Jessie Woodruff, secretary to the manager of the Orange County Builders' Exchange, 42,900.

Others who are definitely in the race for top honors are: Pauline Erwin, waitress at the Rossmore cafe; Gladys Mangual, cashier Walker's theater; Ralph Patterson, Western Union operator; Vera Solis, Union Dollar store; James Valentine, postoffice carrier; Mae Thomas, registrar of voters; Alice Skinner, North Main Medical building; Mike Martin, city bus driver; Nora Mae Bingle, "Bubbles" Malt shop; Don C. Croft, Buick garage; Madge Fellhauer, Montgomery Ward; Venna Goodwin, secretary at the Methodist church; E. E. Hill, Diamond Ice company; and Herman Lewis. Any of the 120 candidates nominated to the Courtesy and Efficiency contest are worthy of your support. By remembering to clip the coupon nightly from The Journal, and either giving it to him or her, or by sending it to this office, you may greatly assist in placing your favorite at the top of the list. Remember, the contest will be in progress for another three weeks.

Bride Guard's Award for Saving Life; Both Hope for Seattle Trip

More interesting data about the nominees in The Journal's Courtesy and Efficiency contest was made known today as the contest editor concluded a chat with three more contestants—Alice Skinner, Venna Goodwin and Marie Foltz.

Polling a heavy vote from Orange in The Journal Courtesy and Efficiency contest is Marie Foltz, bookkeeper at the Reliable Sheet Metal works in that city. Marie came to Orange county from Clarion, Iowa, and is a graduate of Clarion High school. She has lived in Santa Ana for 10 years. She realizes the importance of courtesy and efficiency and practices these qualities in her daily dealings with others. One warm summer day in 1931, while swimming at Redondo Beach, Marie was swept out to sea. A handsome life guard, noticing the young lady was in distress, rescued her from the mad surf. One year later that life guard and Marie were married. And if Marie wins that trip to Seattle by United Airlines, Irwin, her husband, is to be her honored guest. Lyle Christenson of Orange is her brother. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Christenson of Santa Ana are her father and mother. The Foltz reside at 1015 Cypress. Irwin is a third baseman and a prominent member of the Tustin night baseball squad.

VENNA GOODWIN

Miss Venna Goodwin is that cheerful and courteous secretary who meets the scores of persons daily visiting the office of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Hundreds of young men and women who have attended Santa Ana high school know her father, H. W. Goodwin, who taught mathematics and history at the local school. Miss Goodwin was born in Pennsylvania and has resided in Orange county since 1920. She has been secretary of the church since 1927. Prominent not only in church organizations, she is a member of several well-known organizations outside the church, including the Santa Ana chapter of the O. E. S. She is assistant registrar for the Council of Religious Education. Miss Goodwin is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school and attended the Orange County Business college. Two of her brothers and one sister reside in Orange county. They are: Herman W. Goodwin II, who is in the vegetable business; Dr. D. W. Goodwin, a dentist at Brea and Mrs. Ray Roberts, a high school teacher.

ALICE SKINNER

One quality above all others is important in holding a position as a receptionist at a medical building. That is courtesy. And because Miss Alice Skinner possesses this she is a success at her work. Born at Calgary, Alberta, Canada, Miss Skinner has lived in Santa Ana since 1923. She is a graduate of Santa Ana high school, class of 1933. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Skinner, 914 West Walnut street. She has been at the medical center for the past two years. She was in Dr. S. Theron Johnston's office for two years, prior to being employed here. Besides her position as receptionist, she is secretary and bookkeeper for Dr. Arthur M. Donaldson. Miss Skinner

Christian Science

"The ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away." This prophecy of Isaiah was the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Christian Science" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon were the verses from Matthew: "And when Jesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, Thou son of David, have mercy on us. And when he was come into the house, the blind men came to him: and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They said unto him, Yea, Lord. Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you. And their eyes were opened."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, stated: "Our Master's first article of faith propounded to his students was healing, and he proved his faith by his works."

50 ROTARIANS RETURN HOME FROM BAY CITY

Fifty Orange county representatives, who mingled with 11,000 men and women from all over the world at last week's convention of Rotary International in San Francisco, were back home today.

Most of the local delegation returned Saturday on two cars of a special Rotary train. Several other groups came back by automobile.

"It certainly was international in every detail," said Mac O. Robbins, one of the Santa Ana delegation. "There was literature in five languages, and there were representatives from 40 countries, including India, Egypt, Straits settlements, England, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Norway and Denmark."

Robbins went to San Francisco 10 days ago as a representative of the California Association of Insurance agents for two committee meetings with officials of the Board of Fire Underwriters, and stayed for the Rotary gathering.

Convention sessions were held in the 5000-seat Fox theater, which was filled to overflowing. The giant civic auditorium was turned into a House of Friendship and filled with trees, shrubs and plants as a gathering place for those attending the convention.

Besides delegates from other Orange county clubs, Santa Ana Rotary club's group at the convention included President John McCoy and Mrs. McCoy, President-elect William J. Stauffer and Mrs. Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Smedley, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Shadden, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daniger, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McBride and Robbins.

WAGE BILL NOW IS LAW

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The wage-hour bill, providing for national regulation of minimum wages and maximum hours in interstate industry, became law today with President Roosevelt's signature.

The White House announced the President had signed this measure along with 130 other bills passed by the last congress.

The wage-hour law fixes a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour and a maximum work week of 44 hours, effective 120 days from Saturday—the date of the President's signature. Other features of the act go into effect at once.

The minimum wage of 25 cents an hour, to which no exceptions will be granted, will be increased to 30 cents an hour the following year. Above that point committees appointed by the administrator for each industry will fix the minimum pay.

Sweetest River In Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (American Wire)—The sweetest river in the world is probably the river Sava here. Over half a ton of saccharine has been thrown into it during the past two months as a result of attempts to smuggle the food into the nation.

The amount thus thrown away would be enough to sweeten 28,125,000 cups of Turkish coffee, 14,062,500 glasses of lemonade, or 9,375,000 cups of tea, it has been estimated. It is equivalent, as regards sweetening capacity, to 22½ truckloads of sugar. The sale of saccharine is forbidden in Yugoslavia so it will not interfere with the sale of sugar, on which the government levies a high tax.

Chain Letter Likeness Is Fad

MELBOURNE, Australia. (American Wire)—A variation of the chain letter craze that swept the United States is going over big here these days. It is called the Handkerchief club, differing from the American craze in that handkerchiefs instead of money are exchanged and it is limited to the female sex.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Frederick N. Calhoun of West Fifth street, Santa Ana, who is versatile in rendering his services in behalf of the Townsend cause, acted as verification deputy in circulating a petition in connection with C. T. Johnson's candidacy for Representative to Congress on the Townsend Party ticket.

He secured the signatures of twenty registered voters who have affiliated themselves with the Townsend Party in Orange county. He filed the petition with the county clerk's office Saturday morning. In Riverside county, Dr. C. S. Walker acted in the same capacity, getting twenty signers there; and in San Bernardino county, J. M. Spence secured another twenty, making sixty in all of electors who sponsored the San Bernardino city mayor's filing on the Townsend ticket.

Tomorrow evening in La Habra's Masonic hall on Central avenue, the Townsend club of that place is putting on a pot-luck dinner, which will be held at 6:30 o'clock. All those wishing to attend are requested to bring a covered dish, but silverware and table dishes will be furnished by the La Habra club. At 7:30 o'clock following the dinner a Townsend meeting will be held with Madame Mamie Stark, accompanied by Mrs. Evangeline Burnham, both of Los Angeles, putting on one of their splendid musical programs. Mayor C. T. Johnson, who has been endorsed by both the Townsends and Republicans of the Nineteenth district for Congressman is to be the speaker. The La Habra club is extending a cordial welcome to all to hear him give his first address in Orange county as a congressional candidate.

The Orange county Townsend mass meeting held in Anaheim, Friday night was attended by some 300 Townsends of the county. The meeting was held in the beautiful Anaheim City Park Greek Theater on North Lemon street and was called to order by Mrs. Ida A. Freeman, president of the Anaheim club. It featured Miss Corinne Linger, 113 North Emily street, Anaheim, daughter of Mrs. Mary H. Linger. Miss Linger opened the evening program with a group of numbers played on the vibraharp. She is at home for the summer from Seattle Pacific college. Later Madame Mamie Stark accompanied by Evangeline Burnham delighted the audience with the singing of a group of Townsend songs.

The principal speakers were J. D. Wardall, National Townsend representative for Minnesota; Otis J. Bouma, Washington, D. C., Townsend national legislative representative contact man; and Roy J. Webb, Townsend director for Illinois. Rev. Grant Smith of Anaheim offered the invocation and Alfred Redman of Los Angeles was song leader. Because of club announcements which must be made it is impossible to report the speeches but they were evidently approved by the audience present, judging by the applause given each of the speakers.

Yorba Linda Club No. 1 is meeting at 7:30 this evening in the M. E. church for a Townsend meeting. An entertainment program will be presented followed by reports of the National Townsend convention by the delegates.

N. W. Renneker, president, who had the misfortune to fall into a gasoline pit sometime back, resulting in a broken shoulder blade was present every day at the convention even though his right arm has to be continuously held aloft until the broken bone mends. He will be present at tonight's meeting.

Pope R. Long reports that Santa Ana Club No. 2 will meet

Santa Ana Club No. 12 is meeting at the Santa Ana Gardens Community house on the Diamond school grounds at 7:30 this evening. J. I. Barber, president, will preside and the delegates will report the things of interest in the convention.

Mrs. Arlington Lewis of the Oceanview Club No. 1 and its secretary, reports that the club will hold a pot-luck dinner at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening in the cafeteria room of the Oceanview Grammar school on Huntington Beach boulevard. Afterwards the delegates will give their reports of the convention.

No report has been received but tonight is the regular meeting night of the Tustin club No. 1 which meets in its club building at C and West Main streets. The writer presumes that the program will include reports of delegates but does not know other particulars. John Sauer of this club has filed for the office of county supervisor in the Fifth supervisory district.

Five hundred or more Townsends were present at the Orange county mass meeting held Saturday night in Santa Ana Townsend hall. The T. Dunstan Collins band began the program with a concert on the outside of the hall at 6:30 p. m., and the Hurd-Lentz orchestra followed with a concert inside the hall. Phillip S. Doolittle presided and introduced Col. Ralph D. Horton of Los Angeles as the speaker of the evening. The speaker recounted the National Townsend convention's accomplishments and in addition gave a splendid Townsend speech.

There is some reason to think the Assyrians played the bagpipe. Over a hundred species of birds have been observed in the Boulder Dam Recreational Area, Nevada.

50 ACCORDIONS WILL PLAY FOR REP. SHEPPARD

Allisio's fifty-piece accordion band will be one of the entertainment features at the homecoming celebration in honor of Congressman Harry Sheppard tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Riverside civic auditorium.

The affair is to be informal and all friends of Congressman Sheppard are cordially invited to attend, the local committee in charge announced today.

Leo Carrillo, famous motion picture star, has tentatively promised to act as master of ceremonies at the occasion. Mayor Evans of Riverside will present the address of welcome and representatives from the three counties in the 19th Congressional district will give short talks preceding the homecoming address by Congressman Sheppard. Sheppard is expected to explain the progress of flood control work and other major activities in Washington during the past session.

Following the program, a public reception will be held in the patio of the auditorium, and the Mayor of the district will supervise the dance on the main floor. Music from this part of the program will be furnished by a ten-piece orchestra.

An invitation is extended to Republicans, Townsends and others. There is no charge for admission.

When You Pull Lever, Something Usually Starts

NANCY, France. (AP)—Startled railway workers saw a modern 3500-ton locomotive standing idle on a siding near Epinal suddenly start off with a rush, speed about a quarter of a mile and crash into a freight-car loaded with merchandise.

They scrambled over the debris and found a 13-year-old boy frightened but uninjured in the cab. He explained he "just pulled a lever to see what would happen."

The boy spent the night in jail.

CRUICKSHANK TREASURER OF STATE ASS'N

A. J. Cruickshank of Santa Ana is the newly-elected state treasurer of the California Tuberculosis association, it was revealed here today following the return of 24 Orange county persons from last week's state and national tuberculosis association conventions in Los Angeles.

Other Orange county representatives at the conventions were Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Gooden, Anaheim; Miss Irene Prohle, Brea; Miss Isabel Burgan, Mrs. Maanel Dixon, Lenore Terrell and Mrs. Oliver Wickersham, Orange; Miss Lucy Hare, Miss Evelyn T. Ericson, Miss Vena Jones, Dr. E. L. Russell, Mrs. Max Joffis, Mrs. F. W. Williams, Mrs. W. S. and John Wehring, Mrs. Edna Crawford, Mrs. Helen Mark, Mrs. Florence Holmes and Mrs. Nell Miller, Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Beck of Yorba Linda.

More than 1000 physicians, research scientists, health officers, social workers and tuberculosis association officials from throughout the United States, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Hawaii, Mexico and China assembled at the convention, which was devoted to discussion of methods of combating the disease.

The convention adopted an intensive national program, already endorsed by Dr. Thomas Parran, jr., surgeon general of the U. S. public health service, for the complete eradication of tuberculosis at a cost of nearly $200,000,000.

Other state officials elected were Cruickshank as Dr. Carl R. Howson, Los Angeles, president; Dr. Sidney Shipman, San Francisco, vice president; and Dr. F. M. Pottinger, Monrovia, secretary.

Bad Health Effects Of Noise Listed

Deafness, nervous and emotional disorders, excessive fatigue, "evil" results of the loss of sleep, transient changes in blood pressure and the pressure within the brain with consequent increased pulse rate and irregularities in the heart rhythm, and digestive disturbances may all be caused by noise, it appears from the report of Dr. Carey P. McCord of Detroit.

These ill effects of noise were discovered as a by-product of the work of a special committee of the American Medical association studying air conditioning. The closed windows, which were required by air conditioning, it was soon found, helped lessen the evil effects of noise, chiefly street noises.

Deafness due to the noise they are exposed to at work is well known among boiler makers, blacksmiths, machine weavers, fishermen, aviators and railroad workers. Deafness in only one ear, that used for the telephone, is often found in train dispatchers. The first damage to the ear from noise, Dr. McCord said, probably has its beginnings in fatigue.

NEW SYSTEM IN LIBRARY

Twenty Santa Ana library workers have themselves quite a chore yesterday. They pasted new slips in some 30,000 volumes. Objective of the one-day drive was simply to change the date-stamping system from the date books were taken out to the date they are now due, thus eliminating "mental gymnastics" required by borrowers.

The change-over required new slips in every library book reading, "Book Due on Last Date Stamped Below."

The slip-pasting bee ended promptly at 6 p. m. with the project completed, reports Librarian Ethel Walker.

MARY HAMPTON

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her.

Dear B. D.—I wish that I, too, would find myself sailing away to Honolulu in July. And even though your budget is modest, shopping will be fairly simple now on account of all the great sales.

There is a special way of dressing, not only for the islands but also for the water trip going down, which sounds simple enough and yet is rarely achieved by others than fashion sophisticates. This formula is the washable summer sport frock (novelty cottons, linens, synthetics and tulle) made as simply as a shirtmaker's frock, if not actually one.

But with these go the trick sort of slippers that makes every other woman wish she had found them first—and intriguingly colored belts—and invariably some scarf or gadget pinned to the pocket or lapel which has the famous "umph" that everybody is looking for your head.

It is bad "fashion to counter across the back of the neck or across the shoulders of becoming sort. And for ashore there are wide-brimmed straw hats.

Then for the other half of the day—the hours by the sea, another wardrobe is necessary. And this is for both the sun deck and pool of the ship, as well as beside the sea. No less than two swim suits are in any smart wardrobe—and sand addicts might have a half dozen or so. I'd pass by wool in favor of latex suits or cotton or silk dressmaker's suits which are intended for swimming. They go with the tropical air. Then there must be dashy beach sandals—and some extras such as slacks and shorts, little shirts, cotton jackets and all that—and a robe or dirndl dress or cape or something.

LAGUNANS TO TACKLE NO. 1 NINE ON HOME LOT TONIGHT

COUNTY NIGHTBALL LEAGUE	W.	L.	Pct.
Placentia	2	2	.500
Tustin	6	3	.667
Yorba Linda	6	3	.667
San Juan Capistrano	4	4	.500
Laguna Beach	3	6	.333
Irvine	2	6	.250
Costa Mesa	2	6	.250

Games Tonight
Placentia at Laguna Beach.
Costa Mesa at Tustin.
Irvine at San Juan Capistrano.
Yorba Linda bye.

Laguna Beach, the club which defeated Tustin and Yorba Linda successively and enabled Placentia to climb into first place in the County Nightball league standings, goes up against the leaders at Laguna tonight.

With one eye cocked on the Placentia-Laguna struggle, Tustin meets Costa Mesa's Lumber yard nine at Tustin and can bounce into first place if Placentia is defeated. Irvine Cubs travel to San Juan Capistrano for the third league engagement, with Yorba Linda drawing a bye.

The Placentia-Laguna tilt will match Wayne Smiley or Bill Jones against George Stevens in a slab duel. Tustin will have Henry Martinez on the mound against Myrthine. Gib Bristow will hurl for Irvine with Reg Niehaus scheduled for mound duty with Capistrano.

SOLONS SLAP OAKS TWICE; L.A. TIED FOR SECOND

(By The Associated Press)

The steady Sacramento Solons took a firmer grip on first place in the Pacific Coast league today after slapping down at lowly Oakland A's twice as the Los Angeles Angels moved into a tie for second place with the San Francisco Seals by beating them twice.

Sacramento measured the Oaks, 5 to 2 and 3 to 1 in the abbreviated night cap. The Oaks outlived the Solons in the opener, getting off to a one-run lead in the first inning when Hugh Luby put one out of the lot. The Solons took over in the sixth inning when they converted four hits into as many runs.

The Los Angeles Angels bounced home runs out of the ballpark with habitual nonchalance as they trimmed the San Francisco Seals, 13 to 4 and 7 to 3.

In the third inning of the first game Charley English, Jack Rothrock and Rip Collins each homered, while in the seventh, Gene Lillard, the slugging pitcher, dropped one over the fence.

In the second game, Rip Russell connected for two homers, Johnny Moore and Eddie Mayo hit one apiece, Frankie Hawkins of the Seals hit for the circuit but as the score was a wasted blow as far as the score was concerned.

The Portland Beavers suddenly came to life and ran a stratagem from the Hollywood Stars, slimming the series with a pair of victories Sunday. A run scored on three hits in the last of the ninth gave the Beavers the opener, 4 to 3, and in the second game the netting Stars were whitewashed 8-0.

Seattle and San Diego took turns blanking themselves. The San Diego outfit beat Freddie Hutchinson, Seattle's 18-year-old pitching ace, 3 to 0, in the opener. After pitching two hit balls for seven innings, Hutch weakened in the eighth and ninth. He was picked for four hits and all the Padre runs in those innings. A homer by Dominic Dallase in the eighth was the longest ball hit in Seattle's new park, Seattle reversed the situation in the nightcap, getting to Howard Craghead in the sixth and seventh innings to win, 2 to 0.

Joe Shows Jim His Paralyzing Punch

The big topic of conversation in fight circles is the kidney punch that Joe Louis landed on Max Schmeling and which put the German in the hospital. Here Joe demonstrates (but lightly) on Jim Braddock, from whom he took his title last summer. The punch paralyzed Schmeling and started him on the way to a first-round knockout.

COAST TRACK STARS WILL RUN TONIGHT

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Star track and field performers of the Pacific coast and the big ten, rained out of their scheduled intercollegiate contest Saturday, will meet this evening in the twilight at Dyche stadium.

With the starting time set for 7 p. m. (C.D.T.), all 16 events were expected to be run off in an hour and a half before dark. The stadium has no lights.

The field of contestants is studded with National collegiate champions, 1936 Olympic team members and even world record holders. Observers are looking to the mile run for the big feature of the meet. In this race, Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin will attempt to regain some of the national prestige he lost when Lou Zamperini of the University of Southern California defeated him at Minneapolis in a mighty stretch finish.

Other outstanding performances were expected in the high jump which includes Ohio State's Dave Britton, co-holder of the world record of 6 feet 9 1/2 in., and in the pole vault where three westerners—Loring Day, Ken Dills and George Varoff—will be aiming at the record of 14 feet 11 in.

Paced by the mighty Trojans of Southern California, the coast team is a heavy favorite to repeat its triumph of last year when it won 92 to 44.

NEW POLICY FOR OLYMPICS

NEW YORK, (AP)—For the first time in 40 years, the United States team in the 1940 Olympics at Tokyo will depart from the tradition of maximum representation in all sports.

The American Olympic committee decided last night that instead of first, second and third place finishers in the final team tryouts only those whose performances could "promise a creditable showing" would be taken along.

This move was made by the A. O. C. in approving a "rules of procedure for the guidance of games committees," drafted by Dr. Joseph E. Paycorff of Princeton, A. O. C. vice president.

The test, the committee said, "shall be the demonstrated ability of any qualifying athlete to equal or better the performance which scored eighth place in the 1936 Olympic games" in his particular event.

FILIPINO TO WRESTLE HERE

"Bolo" Ben Pilar, the only Filipino wrestler, is making his Orange county debut Thursday night at the Orange County Athletic club in a preliminary that matches him with Pat O'Dowdy, former Irish Free State guardman.

Pilar, who comes from the back country of Mindanae in the Philippine Islands, is unusually powerful for a Filipino and wrestles with same skill that has marked other of his countrymen who have entered professional sports by way of boxing.

On the same card Promoter "Bud" Levin will present a double main event featuring "Pat" Pop-eye" O'Brien and "Tarzan" Bob Montgomery in a two-out-of-three falls, finish match and Don Sebastian, the Mexican wrestler, against Ken Hollis. Sebastian and Hollis, also will wrestle for two-out-of-three falls to a finish. In the semi-windup Alvin Britt, former junior heavyweight champion, meets Paul Murdoch of Boston, Mass., for two-out-of-three falls. There will be a 45-minute time limit placed on the Britt-Murdoch match.

Boston at Cleveland (postponed, rain).
Philadelphia at Chicago (postponed, rain).

NEW YORK, (AP)—Max Schmeling owes Mike Jacobs $40,000 covering advances over a two-year period, and will have to pay every dime of it before returning to Germany. Reason: Mike Jacobs, who believes the German is through with any part of us from now on. It's Washington or California at Poughkeepsie today and you can write your own ticket. On the night Louis Kayode Schmeling, negroes from in and around Orange, N. J., surprised that Babe Phelps of the Los Angeles club rates more than just honorable mention.

The last time the batting figures came up, "Jigger" Statz was hitting a robust .339, and handling his share of chances in the outfield with seldom a slip-up.

"Proper diet" is Jigger's main explanation for his long activity on the diamond. For further details, see Mrs. Statz, who has had charge of this department for many a year, along with caring for the four Statz youngsters.

Jigger was born Oct. 20, 1897, in Waukegan, Ill., birthplace of a fellow who turned out to be a better pitcher than a violinist. His name is Jack Benny.

Graduated from Holy Cross college, Statz was taken into the fold of the New York Giants in 1919 following service in the United States army. He played in 19 games and hit .300. He played 16 more for the Giants in 1920, went to Boston for a short spell and hit Los Angeles to finish out the season.

In 1923 Jigger hit .310 for the Angels, stole 52 bases and the Cubs grabbed him for the next four years.

Coming back to the Coast league, Statz enjoyed perhaps his best year in 1926 when he hit .354 in 199 games, led the loop in hits, doubles and triples and accounted for 577 put outs and only two errors. Then he went to Brooklyn for 1927 and 1928.

Tornillo, five-year-old racing mount, which was one of four favorites to come through in Saturday's handicap card at Hollywood Turf club, paid its ninth dividend in 10 track starts in its Santa Ana owners, Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Playan, 2885 North Main street.

Only a year under the Plavan stable, Tornillo has run at Santa Anita, Bay Meadows and Tanforan in San Francisco and now at Hollywood where Saturday was its first start there.

Tornillo has won six of its 10 races and has placed or showed in the other three. In the sixth race Saturday for three-year-olds and up, the Plavan racer romped off with the $1000 claiming purse with Jockey Sena up and paid its backer $8.60, $4.60 and $3.20 across the boards. The horse's trainer is Mike Batton who took over when the horse went to Bay Meadows and Tanforan.

Before being shipped to Santa Anita for the winter racing season, Tornillo will be sent to Del Mar track, which opens July 29, and back a gain to Tanforan. No plans have been made to send it to the eastern tracks.

The Playans also own two other horses which are stable at Hollywood. Urge Me won its first race and is scheduled to make another appearance this week. Sure Fine, a young colt, has not been entered in any races so far.

Red Lion Team Sets World Skeet Mark

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—The Gilmore Red Lion team of Los Angeles set a new world record to capture the National Telegraphic Skeet championship, officials announced here today.

The Red Lions shattered 491 out of a possible 500 targets, breaking the record set by the Northwest Gun club of Chicago in 1937 by three shots. The Telegraphic shoot was held yesterday in connection with the great eastern championship here.

The Los Angeles Monica Skeet Club No. 1 also broke the 1937 record in taking second place, one shot behind the winners.

'JIGGER' IS 41, BUT STILL GOING STRONG

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—For a man who has been playing baseball for around 20 years and is still able to stave off any challenge by youth, Arnold Statz of the Los Angeles club rates more than just honorable mention.

The last time the batting figures came up, "Jigger" Statz was hitting a robust .339, and handling his share of chances in the outfield with seldom a slip-up.

"Proper diet" is Jigger's main explanation for his long activity on the diamond. For further details, see Mrs. Statz, who has had charge of this department for many a year, along with caring for the four Statz youngsters.

Lionettes Will Attempt To End Hitting Jinx In Game Tonight

AL SIMONS' OBITUARIES ARE TOO SOON

By SID FEDER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It's a shame!
All those glowing obituaries about the pounding Pole will have to be torn up. All those pretty words about his two straight American league batting championships; about the way he led the Athletics to three pennants and two world titles; about his records sprinkled all through the book—all of the stuff that's been written about the "washed up" old guy will have to go back on the dead hook.

Because the pounding Pole (Al Simmons is the name) isn't any more washed up than the week's laundry at 4 a. m. Monday morning. That $15,000 price tag "Old Fox" Clark Griffith paid the Tigers for him looks like a bargain at this point, and that 279 batting average he turned in last year must have been a mistake.

If there was any one outstanding development of the just concluded swing through the circuit of the American league's eastern teams and the National league's west—outside of the dizzy way the whole thing wound up—Simmons' return to form is it.

In the 11 games he played during the Senators' trek through the hinterlands "Assassin Al" batted a mere .375, drove in 24 runs and collected six homers, four of them in the last six games, and two of them in yesterday's doubleheader as the Senators socked the St. Louis Browns 9-1, 7-2. The second game with the bases loaded, and gave him ten for the year. Now, that's not an awful lot, but if he keeps it up, it would figure close to 30 for the season, which isn't exactly popping up to the infielders.

The double win pushed the Nats up to fourth place in the American league over the Detroit Tigers, who had their ears knocked off, 10-3, by the reviving Yankees. While the Yankee big guns were blasting out a dozen hits, Monte Pearson pitched a six-hitter, one of his best efforts of the season.

The curtailed Sunday program wound up the latest swing through the circuit in both leagues with about as silly a set of figures as you'd expect in these whack penance races. Not one of the National league's four eastern teams including the Giants—managed to show a 500 average for the home stands, and only the Chicago Cubs of the western set went under that figure among the invaders.

The East won 19 and lost 28 games.

The Giants just missed the even Stephen Fienberg by taking the final game of their series with the Cubs yesterday. King Carl Hubbell came through with the 200th pitching victory of his big league career, the only National elbow active in the game today in that select set.

Over in the American league, only the Cleveland Indians, among the four western outfits, managed to go to town during the home stand. The others finished at .500 or less, while the eastern invaders came home with a total of 26 wins against 26 setbacks.

By winning yesterday, the Giants straddled their National league lead to two games over the Cincinnati Reds, who broke even with the Phillies in a twin bill. Homers by Chuck Klein and Phil Weintraub helped the Phils to a 10-3 win in the opener. Harry Craft's four-bagger aided Paul Derringer to an 8-5 Red win in the nightcap.

The Dodgers and Cardinals played a 1-1 tie before rain washed out, in the sixth inning of the first game, what was to have been their doubleheader. Everything else in both leagues was rained out.

ELKS DROP 2 GAMES IN YUMA

Unaccustomed to the 12-inch ball and 60-foot base lines, the actual club dropped two games Saturday and Sunday night to Yuma (Ariz.) Nighthawks at Yuma by scores of 7-5 and 3-2.

A home run in the 12th inning after two were out defeated the Elks last night. Joe Cornelius was on the slab for the Elks against Paul (Chandu) Watson, old-time Whittier hurler.

Bruce Harnois pitched Saturday and Dave Webb caught. Harnois caught Cornelius Sunday. In addition to the 60-foot bases and 12-inch ball, the Yuma club employed the 10-man club, the extra-man being used as a roving fielder, shifting his position according to the type of batter. Dave Webb was rover last night and Dave Striving was No. 10 Saturday.

O'Connell and O'Shannon Top Fight Card Tonight in Arena on 101 Highway

Advance reservations for the boxing card to be presented tonight at the Orange County Athletic club, indicate one of the largest houses at the Highway 101 arena since the revival of boxing, according to Promoter "Bud" Levin.

Steadily improving cards are given as one reason for the increased crowds. The other reason is the "Patrons' Purse" award which, for tonight will be doubled over last week's presentation.

In the top spot on tonight's card Tommy O'Connell, Santa Ana fighter, meets "Red" O'Shannon of Los Angeles, in a rematch following a torrid match between the pair two weeks ago. In the lower bracket of the double main event Marty Gomez, Compton, meets Kid Buddy, Los Angeles. In the semi-windup Wayne Penn, Long Beach blonde bombshell, battles Frankie Gardea of Los Angeles at 128 pounds.

ROUND ROBIN NET TOURNAMENT OPENS HERE

Ten tennis contestants in the Santa Ana Round Robin tournament advanced into the undefeated ranks in Class A and B division at the high school courts yesterday.

Robert Blakemore, Santa Ana High school netter, out-stroked Howard Murphy in a 6-2, 6-4 Class A match. Harold Lewis, defending Class B champion, won handily over Larry Detwiler, 6-2, 6-1. The hardest fought match was between Katherine Williams and Julius Lowenstein. Mrs. Williams won, 8-6, 6-8, 8-6.

Eight Class A second round matches will be played on the high school courts tomorrow afternoon beginning at 3:30 o'clock. Four matches in the "B" division are on tap also at 3:30.

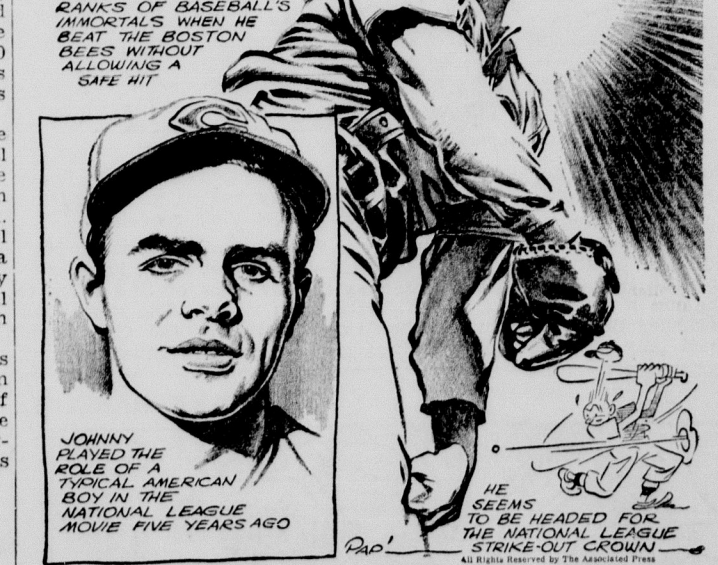

Other tennis duels will be run off Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons which will complete most of the third round. Sixteen entrants are listed in the "A" group and 15 in Class B.

Results yesterday:
Class A—Blakemore def. Murphy, 6-2, 6-4; Toby White def. Fred Cooper, 6-1, 6-4; Don Ritchey def. Dick Evans, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4; Katherine Williams def. Julius Lowenstein, 8-6, 6-8, 8-6; Kenneth Cannon def. Gordon Knapp, 6-2, 6-4.
Class B—Lewis def. Detwiler, 6-2, 6-1; George Lincoln def. Lloyd Morris, 6-1, 6-0; Jack Miles def. Mildred Taylor, 6-0, 6-1; Kenneth Crumley def. Carl Wright, 6-1, 5-3, and Bill Holland def. Fatsy Miller (three sets).

Tuesday matches, Class A, 4-40; Blakemore vs. Finster, Blair vs. Murphy, White vs. Ward, Roney vs. Ritchey, 3-30—Williams vs. Knight, 5-30—Jacobson vs. Cooper, 3-30, and Evans, Mrs. Blair vs. Lowenstein.

Class B matches, 3-30—Lewis vs. Lincoln, Nisley vs. Emison, Holland vs. Morrison, 5-30—Miles vs. Crumley.

VAN DERMEER IS 91ST PITCHER TO HURL NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

Johnny Vander Meer is the 91st pitcher to be credited with a no-hit, no-run since the major leagues began keeping records. A no-hit, no-run game still is a pitching masterpiece and the ambition of every hurler. Luck plays an important part in the fastidious of a no-hitter, and without a few good breaks along the way few would be recorded. The no-hitter is to baseball what the hole-in-one is to golf or the 100-yard touchdown-run is to football. It's the tops.

Vander Meer pitched his way into the Bees. Only 28 Boston batters faced him in the nine innings. The three men who reached first base on passes remained there. All of which adds up to a very neat performance for a youngster who is putting in his first full season as a major leaguer.

Vander Meer was carded as a Cincinnati freshman last season but in mid-summer was sent to Syracuse in an effort to have his control improved. Johnny was more of an international leaguer than a National leaguer since he worked 105 innings in the minor show as against 84 in the majors for the Reds.

This spring in training camp Manager Bill McKechnie had Vander Meer stress control and after suggesting a few minor changes in the youngster's delivery settled back to let nature take its course. The results must be more than gratifying to McKechnie.

At the clip Vander Meer has been travelling Cincinnati is likely to wake up and find the National league strike-out king on its roster. He has been bowling them over at the rate of 6.24 strikeouts nine innings game. The best Carl Hubbell of the Giants did last year in leading the league was to fan 152 in 262, which is at the rate of 5.46 per nine-inning game.

Strike-out laurels are nothing new to Vander Meer, young as he is. It was his great strike-out record in 1936 that turned the spotlight in his direction and earned him a tryout with the Reds. Pitching for the Dismal Bells that season he set an all-time Piedmont league record of 295 strike-outs. In one game he fanned 20 batters.

Golf Teams Tied

R. A. Emison-H. L. Miller golf combination and F. E. Farnsworth-R. W. Weston duo tied in the Santa Ana Country club low-ball partner tournament Saturday. Emison and Miller stroked a 74-77 and Farnsworth and Weston shot a 73-67.

PEPSI-COLAS WILL TACKLE ORANGE GIRLS

Victims of their own inability to club the ball in the clutches, which has cost them their past two league games, Orange's Lionettes will attempt to snap their hitting jinx at the expense of Pepsi-Cola's girls' club at Orange's city park diamond at 8 o'clock tonight.

Another capacity crowd is expected to watch Bessie Johnson in her third start for the Lionettes against one of the new second-half clubs in the Major Girls' league. Admission prices are 10 and 20 cents.

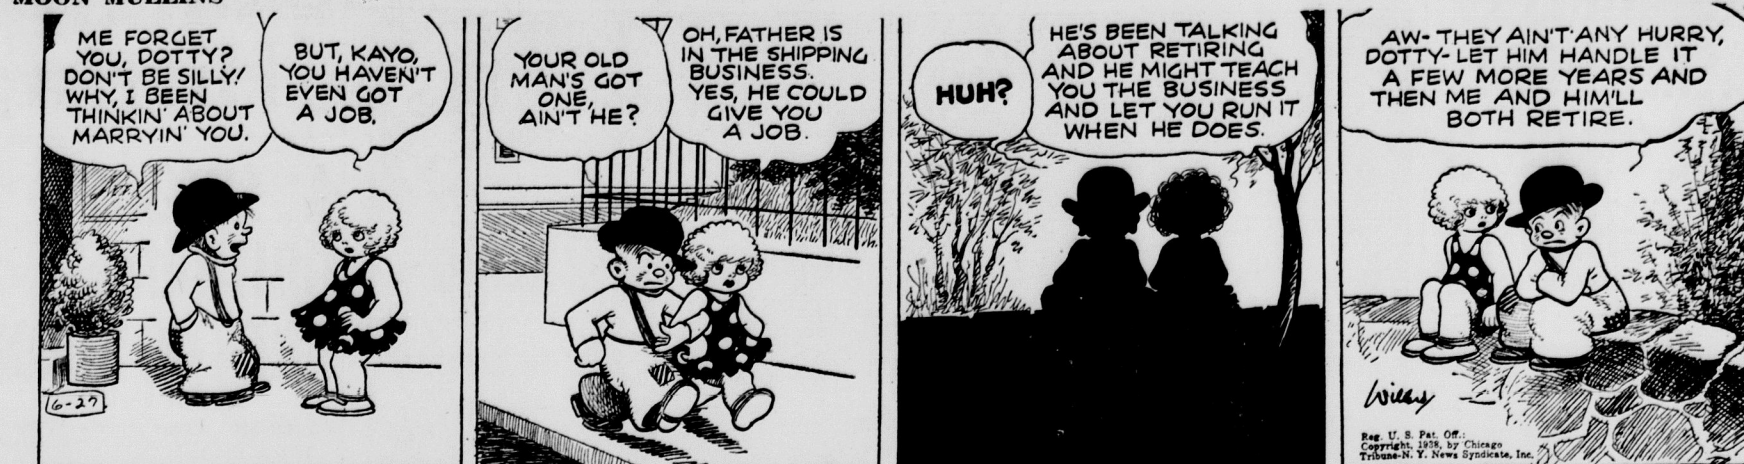

Although outhitting their rivals in the past two games, the Lionettes left two runners stranded in the seventh inning against Columbia Pictures, losing 2-1, and three runners were left on base in the Lionettes' 5-4 loss to Young's Market.

Miss Johnson, No. 2 hurler to Blonde Lois Terry, pitched the Lionettes to a 9-1 victory over Bank of America last Monday. Her battery mate will be Melitia Forsley. Alice Martin, who came down with Johnson, left for Stockton last week.

June Gottlieb and Helen Tower will be Pepsi-Cola's battery. The invaders graduated as Perfection Bread did from the Major League where they placed second in the first half. Several members of the disrupted Can-Tan club plan for Pepsi-Cola.

The Lionettes' lineup: Ruth Lee, 1b; Forsley, c; Elsie Winchell, 2b; Louise Hunt, rf; Phoebe Miller, cf; Bobbie Wakeham, lf; Margaret Mast, 3b; Oshiki, ss, and Johnson, p.

Pioneers' Picnic

Orange county pioneers, fraternizing in Irvine park yesterday, were typical of that restless humanity which moved from east to west, and finally through dangers and hardships turned a wilderness into a land flowing with milk and honey. It is now the Canaan land of America.

Pioneers are that unit of the race which from primitive environment saw the log cabin transformed into the air-conditioned home, the churn to the scientific creamery, the old oaken bucket to the faucet.

So many changes have taken place since the days of the Pilgrim Rock episode, that one may be forgiven if he changes his mind to the modern viewpoint that "Life Begins at Forty."

Maybe it does for some. But you try and take away from the pioneers the experiences of their time and with their hardships and joys, and you will get into an argument. Their happiness of today is measured by comparison out of their trials of yesterday. They have the advantage of knowing and sharing in both sides of the experience. They didn't get it out of a book, but out of the record of actual indulgence.

Pioneer picnics are finally absorbed by the generations which follow, but still held intact in tradition and fellowship because to them have been related the stories of days beyond recall which they could never know otherwise.

In Irvine park yesterday the old Orange county pioneers by contact and reminiscence renewed the friendships of other days, which only the lengthening shadows of eternity can take away from them.

A radio company has reported to the Securities and Exchange commission that it suffered a $376,000 loss in 1937, due to the Ohio river flood. This is the first time any company hasn't blamed Roosevelt.

The Campaign Starts

Campaigns are just beginning for about 120 Orange county men and women who seek public or party office. They're over for 14 incumbents whose nerves quieted Saturday when no opposition developed, and for two more candidates for offices where incumbents did not run.

Some of the 16 will champ at the bit when things begin popping in the August primary campaign. Veteran campaigners, some of them feel a little lost when they haven't a fight on their hands.

Still they'll feel rather satisfied when they see other candidates tired and droopy as the polls close.

The fact they had no opponents is a tribute to their records and the esteem in which they are held—but no more so than in the cases of many present and would-be public servants who will hitch up their suspenders and dive into campaigns because fate has provided opposition.

Most of Orange county's incumbents have excellent records—but so have most of their opponents in the activities they have carried on. To all of these—may the best man win.

To the 16 who are virtually elected today (others must wait until Aug. 31), The Journal's first election congratulations of this hectic campaign year. May these men serve the people—their employers—long and well.

Take It Easy

Always drive carefully, but drive more carefully now that the children are out of school. Santa Ana has an enviable record in school safety. Let it not be marred during the vacation season. Avoidance of tragedies will be the test of our caution.

Children take chances in their play. They are not expected to use the precaution of the adult. They use the street for a playground to some extent in spite of parental denial and official disapproval.

It isn't always convenient to get to supervised playgrounds. There is a youthful exuberance crying for expression, and children accept quickly a challenge from a companion to catch a ball or ride a bicycle across the street. All of these entail risks where traffic is heavy, and where isn't traffic heavy these days.

Drive carefully.

Los Angeles' New Cry

"What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," or is it? Anyway, Los Angeles is flying the "buy at home" flag, and is criticizing certain purchasing practices of city and county departments getting supplies in eastern markets without due regard to home industries.

It is a matter difficult to control. There seems to be a temptation to buy many articles away from home which could as conveniently and cheaply, and to much better advantage of your own community, be purchased of the local merchants.

But coming from Los Angeles which has a far reaching arm when it comes to soliciting trade, the criticism is pertinent, and justifies the pleas of local business men for home loyalty.

Nation's Capitol

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON.—It becomes increasingly clear that the political realignment now going on is likely to work itself out through the two existing major parties.

Various sectional parties such as the American Labor party in New York, the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota and the new La Follette party in Wisconsin may exert large local influence. But in national terms the realignment seems destined to continue through a shaking-out process between the democratic and republican national party organizations.

This has been made more probable by the declaration of Republican National Chairman John Hamilton at Birmingham, Ala. Speaking to southern republicans—yes, there are some—Hamilton stated that the only way in which the much talked-of coalition between republicans and anti-Roosevelt democrats could come about would be for the dissenting democrats to join the republican party.

He would welcome them warmly and "make concessions to them where fundamental principles are not involved." Apparently he has in mind that anti-Roosevelt democrats in the senate, participating in the republican party in national affairs while retaining their identity as democrats in local affairs.

Have Little Voice
One practical advantage in this to southern anti-Roosevelt democrats may be suggested. The anti-Roosevelt democrats in the house and senate now sit as democrats and participate as democrats in organization of the house and senate and in control of committees and legislative business. But they have little voice because the Roosevelt democrats control. By joining with republicans sitting as republicans, voting with republicans in the organization of house and senate machinery, it is conceivable that after some gains on the republican side they could obtain some control.

This is a two-party country," Hamilton said, "and the republican party is the only effective instrument of organized opposition to the New Deal. It has seized the other party. All opposition to the present regime at Washington must be built around the republican party. Suggestions and proposals to the contrary are not realistic. They represent only wishful thinking."

He Carries Weight
True Hamilton is not the whole republican party, and some republicans like Senator Vandenberg have objections to the idea of a formal coalition. But Hamilton is national chairman, and while he remains so his attitude will have great weight within the party, the more so because in taking his position he speaks for thousands of state and county republican workers who object to having the party split by some of the party's elder statesmen and philosophers who are advocating abdication in favor of anti-Roosevelt democratic candidates, particularly for the senate.

Hamilton has fought such abdications vigorously as part of his determination to preserve the republican party through its lean days. Thus southern anti-Roosevelt democrats like George of Georgia and Bailey of North Carolina have two possible courses. First they could go on as now, continuing at Washington in a party with which they are completely out of sympathy so far as national affairs are concerned. Or second, they could keep their local organizations democratic but turn them in as republican so far as presidential, senatorial and congressional candidates are concerned, being national republicans and local democrats.

INFORMATION HE WAS AFTER

The man was late for work. Hurrying from the house, he spotted a letter sticking out of his mail box. He snatched the letter, and as he ran for the bus he glanced at the missive. Then he stopped suddenly. The letter was from his lawyer and was about a matter he had been eagerly waiting to hear.

He paused in the middle of the street, ripped open the envelope, and began to peruse the contents. At that precise moment a passer-by paused to glance at the letter over the man's shoulder.

The man sensed someone standing behind him. He whirled to face the intruder.

"What do you mean by reading my letter over my shoulder?" he demanded. "It doesn't concern you."

"All right, all right," murmured the passer-by. "That's all I wanted to know."—Christian Science Monitor.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Inside word is that the big-monied boys who gutted the tax bill already have got to work privately to do the same for the anti-monopoly investigation.

It missed the public eye, but Benny Baruch had a gang of research men working like beavers on the tax bill. Their job was to supply his old Mississippi friend, Senator Pat Harrison, with ammunition to strangle the capital gains and undistributed profits taxes.

Now the same group is getting busy to show the anti-monopoly investigators why big business is indispensable to the public good.

Fancy Galluses
Thanks to Secretary of War Henry Woodring, the president has a new pair of fancy galluses.

They consist of broad, bright red silk shoulder bands, set off with adjustment buckles of sky blue shields with white stars, and trouser grips in the form of silver eagles with extended talons.

The president first saw the eye-popping creation on Secretary Woodring at a cabinet meeting. He was immediately intrigued.

"Let's have a look at them, Harry," he demanded. "They are marvelous. Where did you get them; can I buy a pair?"

Woodring explained that he got the galluses as a Christmas gift from Elizabeth Hawes, New York dress designer, and offered to get another pair for Roosevelt. A week later he presented the duplicate to the president, who wears them with great gusto.

Back in 1925, Franklin Roosevelt formed a law partnership with young New York Irishman named Basil O'Connor. That partnership continued very happily for eight years and ended just before Roosevelt stepped into the White House.

Since that time Basil O'Connor and his congressional brother John have been a worse pain in the neck to the president than anyone in the USA, Father Coughlin not excepted.

The pain began six weeks after Roosevelt took the oath of office, and ended temporarily, at least, with the closing of the last session of congress.

The beginning was the CCC kit bag deal, when it was discovered that Basil O'Connor, using his ready access to the White House, had persuaded the late Louey Howe to buy army kit-bags for the CCC camps at a price considerably higher than the army was paying for its kit-bags.

It took the adroit hand of Senator Sheppard, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, to whitewash this, and afterward the senator from Texas got three diplomatic appointments (one ambassador and two ministers) from a grateful administration.

Ever since then Basil O'Connor, Roosevelt's ex-law partner, has had his hand in lobbying deals diametrically opposed to the New Deal, the most notorious being that of Associated Gas and Electric.

It will be remembered that when the elusive Howard Hopson, of Associated Gas and Electric, was subpoenaed by the lobbying committee and escaped service for many days, it was Congressman John O'Connor, brother of Basil, who sheltered and protected him.

The activities of the O'Connors are a long, long story. But the climax came in the recent session of congress, and may cause the loss of John's seat.

As chairman of the rules committee, O'Connor has a virtual life-or-death decision over legislation. He can let it come before the house, or he can stifle it by refusing to give a bill a rule.

John has used this power very much to his own personal advantage, and his colleagues have burned up with indignation. They burned over his stifling of the wage-hour bill. Even more burned was labor. Again, he aroused enmity over his bottling up of the Walsh-Healey amendment which barred violators of the Wagner act from obtaining government contracts. Labor was burned to a cinder.

Since O'Connor comes from a heavy labor district, this may mean his job.

The bitterness between the O'Connor family and their once good friend and law partner reached its peak in the last hours of congress, during the voting on a resolution to investigate radio monopoly. Ordinarily, the house liberals would have voted for such an investigation, while O'Connor, a reactionary, would have voted against it.

This time, however, he was for the investigation, and reported it out of his committee. Instantly the liberal bloc turned against the resolution. Anything that John O'Connor was for, they were against.

Members went down the aisles passing out the word to vote against O'Connor. Word also went out that John was trying to get back at the Roosevelt family, that he wanted the investigation to show up the wire-pulling of Elliott Roosevelt in the radio industry.

This had its effect. The radio investigation was voted down overwhelmingly.

Note—Most likely opponent against John O'Connor next November is Mrs. Elinore Herrick, New York regional director of the national labor relations board, and close friend of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Peace through understanding is the motivating force that has kept Rotary alive in all the countries save Germany.

There is hope and inspiration in the fact that businessmen of nations great and small are striving through organization to keep up the most earnest aspiration for world peace.

Business is supposed to be hard-boiled and only dollar conscious. But Rotarian businessmen have adopted as their motto "He profits most who serves best," and they apply that to nations as well as to individuals.

If universal peace ever is to be vouchsafed to a troubled world, it will come through the dissemination of the kind of mutual understanding this great organization is trying to foster.

San Francisco welcomes Rotary's representatives today and honors them for the magnificent purpose which brings them together.

Experiments upon living parts of the human body after personality has vanished; manufacture by human organs in vitro of hormones and antibodies needed in the cure of disease; removal of diseased organs from the body, their cure in the Lindbergh pump and their replanting in the human body.

These are some of the wonders of medicine that Dr. Alexis Carrel and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh consider possible for the future as result of the development of the Lindbergh pump and the surgical and chemical procedures for the cultivation of organisms.

Three years ago the world learned with astonishment of the scientific collaboration of the great Rockefeller Institute experimenter and the great aviator. Lindbergh had developed a pump that perfused or bathed whole organisms from the animal body with life-maintaining liquids. Dr. Carrel carried on the exceedingly careful experiments that promised to help in the solution of an endless number of problems in normal bodily function and disease.

Now in order that others may apply their methods they have published a book of details, The Culture of Organs (Hoebner). Dr. Carrel sees the day when human organs will manufacture in the Lindbergh pump the protective and curative substances supplied today to patients by horses and rabbits.

He dreams of removing diseased portions of the body and sending them to a large Lindbergh pump, as patients are now sent to the hospital. A kidney removed for tuberculosis or a leg amputated by osteosarcoma would possibly heal under the influence of an artificial medium in the glass organ hospital.

He believes that replanting the portion of the body would offer no difficulty, as surgical techniques for the suture of blood vessels and the transplantation of organs and limbs were developed long ago.

Regeneration of organs within the body is foreseen. Cultivation of the organs in the Lindbergh pump would allow the discovery of the nature of the specific chemicals demanded by these organs for growth and normal function. Then it would be possible to feed these chemicals to the body, renewing the damaged gland, instead of continuing to supply the hormone by injection. To bring about the regeneration within the pancreas of the Langerhans' islands would be a far more efficient method of treating diabetes than to inject insulin daily into the body of the patient.

REPLANTING
The officer answered with great gallantry: "Madam, I thought so yesterday."

NEEDED
It was a great occasion, and father looked on with an amused smile, while his eldest son, aged sixteen, had his first shave.

After a great deal of lathering he picked up his new patent razor and began to scrape. Finally, he rinsed the soap off from his face, and caressed his chin with his hand.

"That's better," he murmured proudly.

His father handed the boy a blade. "You've forgotten to use this," he said blandly.—Pearson's.

THE FLATTERER
A French officer had just arrived at the court of Vienna. The Emperor, hearing that he had the day before been in company with a great lady, asked him if it were true that the great lady was the most handsome princess of her time.

The officer answered with great gallantry: "Madam, I thought so yesterday."

NEEDED
The people of today have failed to develop a quality of inner life.

—Rev. Dr. Charles R. Brown, dean emeritus of the Divinity School at Yale University.

As women's basic interests assert themselves in education, business and government, society will increasingly give less attention to the warfare of nations and more to the welfare of children.

Philosophy

In Bloomington, Ill., some years ago, there lived a lonely child. Her name was Rachel Crothers. She had no one to play with; her eight older brothers and sisters were out in the world. Her parents, both doctors of medicine, occupied with their own careers, left her with days long and lacking in cheer. But did she brood and mope? Not a bit of it.

Instead she resorted to make-believe companions—paper dolls. Paper dolls do not sound exciting, but this little girl was capable of making them ooze excitement long after she had passed the paper-doll era. She turned these thin little wisps of make-believe into a veritable storehouse of drama. With a cardboard box for a stage, and some original backdrops, she created wonders in the way of dramatic productions. And she no longer yearned for flesh and blood playmates. These companions of hers could talk (a la Charlie McCarthy); they could act; she could mete out punishment and reward to them according to their just deserts. Her first play—in five acts—was called Every Cloud Has A Silver Lining, or The Ruined Merchant.

An omnivorous reader, as are most lonely people, she ran across a play called The Doll's House by a man named Ibsen. He was a foreigner, but she knew that with a number of changes, she could make a good play out of The Doll's House. And she did! The audience, composed of her family and their friends, were surprised. And she was surprised that they were surprised. Why, she could do anything with her characters. Why, of course!

Time rolled on; school days were over. By now she had heard a lot about Broadway. Her father had died, and to this day Miss Crothers doesn't understand why her conservative mother consented to her coming to New York. (Between you and me, I think that mother saw what the future held.)

In New York, she headed straight for the offices of David Belasco and Daniel Frohman, and the kindly Daniel Frohman gave her some good advice. In the daytime her hours were spent at a dramatic school, and on matinee days in the galleries of the theaters. But at night she found her crying her heart out in her loneliness. Again she turned to her make-believe friends. She studied, read, wrote. Finally her first play, The Three of Us, was produced. It rang the bell of popular approval. Her confidence towered. She has written more than 20 successful plays since those lonely days when she cried herself to sleep.

A long list of plays have flowed from her pen. Among them, A Man's World, Old Lady 31, and Let Us Be Gay. Last year she triumphed again with another Broadway success—Susan and God. The little lonely girl from Bloomington, Ill., is now one of the most famous women playwrights in America.

We can all do exactly what Miss Crothers did: we can fill our lonely hours with so much interest that all suggestion of loneliness will be banished; and we may make a fortune doing it.

Remarkable Remarks

Retreat is not always the path to peace.

—Anthony Eden.

No matter what conditions exist, there will always be room for a man willing to run a business of his own.

—Roger Babson, business analyst.

To my mind, our destiny is with the democracies, because our people are inherently democratic in nature and spirit.

—Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of the generalissimo of China's armies.

The people of today have failed to develop a quality of inner life.

—Rev. Dr. Charles R. Brown, dean emeritus of the Divinity School at Yale University.

I'LL TELL YOU . . .

BY BOB BURNS

Men are usually crude, blunt and matter-of-fact and it's all right as long as they're dealing with other men. But I honestly think they should take a course in art and culture, just so they'll be able to understand the finer and more sensitive qualities of the women folks.

I know a newly married man who sat down to his wife's first breakfast and when she called his attention to how pretty the table was, fixed with flowers she had gone out to gather herself, he said, "Yes, the table looks mighty pretty, but where's the coffee?"

She says, "Oh, you're so unappreciative—I can't think of everything."
